Advance Of 30 To 50 Miles Westward Along Don River Reported

SOME FRENCH NAZI TROOPS ARE ROUTED

Long Columns Of Nazi Troops Are Reported In Retreat In Don River Area

By NATALIA RENE
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, Jan. 7.—Hard-driving Soviet armored forces, advancing 30 to 50 miles westward along both the north and south banks of the Lower Don river, were reported in field dispatches today to have reached a point only 75 miles east of Rostov.

German columns were said to be beating a hurried retreat as the Red army high command speeded up its offensive to recapture the vital nazi-held city at the mouth of the Don.

(Editor's Note: The military expert of Reuter's (British) news agency in London estimated that Gen Gregori Zhukov's attacking Russian forces must now be near the Donetz river junction, 70 miles northeast of Rostov. The Germans he said, are expected to make a "desperate stand" at the latter city.)

Fresh Nazi Troops Routed

At some points in the middle Don area columns of fresh Nazi troops sent into battle in an effort to stem the crushing Soviet advance were put to rout. The Russians in their multi-pronged drives against the Latest order from Washington on the fuel oil and gas situation has created a lot of confusion locally and will probably have some far-reaching effects. The ban on "pleasure driving" became effective at noon today.

January bids fair to keep up the record set by December for precipitation. While the precipitation so far this month has been largely in the form of snow, it has been steady practically no day as yet having been without its snowfall.

With the cloudiness prevalent today, it was about 9:30 o'clock this morning when daylight was really developing. Winter program of daylight saving seems to face many difficulties of achieving any distinctive results.

Are you buying your quota of war bonds and stamps this month? Don't fall down on this important war service.

Have your had your tires inspected? The answer is probably "no" and the suggestion is that you get it done pronto. Tire inspection stations are going to be jammed from here in to the dead line which is January 31. Thus far there has been but a small percentage of tires inspected. They must be inspected by February 1. If your tires are not inspected by then, you drive illegally.

Ban On Pleasure Driving In Effect; Also Fuel Oil Cut

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—Schools, stores, restaurants and theaters today faced the necessity of shortening hours or even closing a day or two a week as result of a drastic east coast fuel oil slash which followed the announcement by OPA of a ban on pleasure driving of nearly 8,000,000 motorists in the same area.

Even churches, war plants and government buildings—federal, state and municipal—were affected by the order which reduced by 25 percent the amount of all fuel oil rations allowed for heating non-dwelling space in the 17 eastern states and the District of Columbia.

In Effect Today

The gasoline and fuel oil orders, designed to ease the worsening Atlantic seaboard petroleum supply situation, went into effect today, the fuel oil regulation at 12:01 a.m. this morning and the pleasure driving ban at noon. The fuel oil cut saves more than 35,000 barrels of petroleum daily.

The OPA made it clear that "even more serious measures" were being

HUGE BOMBER DOES LOOP THE LOOP TO EVADE SHELL FIRE

(International News Service)

LONDON, Jan. 7—The Daily Mail today carried a story about how one of Britain's huge Lancaster bombers, fully loaded, looped the loop and came out of it safely after a shell exploded close underneath the craft while it was over Germany.

The feat amazed even Royal Air Force aircraft production experts, who believed that aerobatics by a machine the size of a Lancaster was impossible.

Employes Granted Increases By Action Of Salary Board

Salary increases amounting to approximately 10 per cent for each employe in the Lawrence county court house were announced today following meetings of the salary board. The increase will mean a gross increase of approximately $12,000.

The salary board, composed of the county commissioners, the county treasurer and the heads of the departments sitting where their own department is concerned, arrived at a 10 per cent increase after some deliberation. This does not

Arrests Are Near In 'Black Market' Gasoline Probe

One Washington Official And Perhaps Two Are Reported As Suspects

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—Arrest of at least one Washington official and perhaps two, described as "ringleaders," in the nation-wide gasoline "black market" uncovered yesterday in Miami, was expected today.

Lieut. Joseph W. Shimon, a special investigator for the district attorney's office, revealed that the arrests were imminent.

His disclosure followed the arrest in Miami of Eugene Brading, 27, in connection with the "black market." Gasoline coupons taken from Brading's apartment and the Miami post office were believed to be part of a recent 2,000,000 gallon theft from Washington ration boards. The seized coupons were said to be good for many gallons.

Shimon criticized premature release of the "black market" investigation data by Miami police and declared that the entire probe which was started by his office several weeks ago was imperiled.

Far-Reaching Effects Are Seen As Result Of Latest Fuel Orders

(International News Service)

Drastic downward revision of fuel and gasoline rationing provisions in 17 eastern states and the District of Columbia today brought changes or prospect of changes in the entire economic, social and private lives of millions of Americans.

Here are a few of the results or expected results of the new stringent curbs on heating and driving:

Places of amusement such as theaters, dance halls, bowling alleys, sports arenas will have to close part time, spread their fuel ration thinly over operating hours or perhaps shut down entirely.

Already racing has been suspended at the Tropical and Hialeah race tracks in Florida.

See Revenue Loss

Motorists restricted entirely to business or emergency driving means virtual elimination of "A" card driving. In states like New York where yearly registrations must be renewed by Feb. 1, it probably means that millions of cars will be put on blocks for the duration with consequent loss of revenue to the state treasury.

Schools where oil is burned for fuel probably will be emptied and their students transferred to coal-burning equipped schools. This implies longer travel for the pupils, some readjusting of family meal hours and undoubtedly, crowding of some schools.

Churches of the same or neighborly faith may be expected to hold joint services as some did during the First World War.

Office buildings will be cooler, the

OPA Closing In On Gas Bootleggers

Arrest Miamian On "Black Market" Charges Of Selling Stolen Ration Books

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7—OPA investigators today increased their drive to stop widespread gas bootlegging, particularly in Washington and the East Coast, following the arrest in Florida of a 27-year-old Miamian in connection with the "black market".

Eugene Brading, of Miami, was taken into custody and investigators indicated that the coupons, taken from his apartment and the Miami post office, were believed to be part of a recent 2,000,000-gallon theft from ration boards in the nation's capital. The seized coupons were said to be good for more than 1,000,000 gallons.

OPA said that some 6,229 ration books have been stolen in Washington since rationing went into effect and that, up to the seizure in Miami yesterday only 1,380 had been recovered.

The coupon books taken from the post office in Miami had been mailed there fro Washington, OPA investigators said. It was reported that gasoline books were selling in Washington for $2 a sheet.

Investigators said that evidence has been received that gas books are being sold throughout the country through black markets and that counterfeit coupons are also being used

Families May Be Evacuated To Heat Centers

Massachusetts Homes Heatless For Second Day; Red Cross Awaits Official Word

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Jan. 7.—Thousands of Massachusetts families today faced the possibility of immediate evacuation from their homes to heated relief centers because of a critical shortage of fuel oil.

With many homes in Boston, Fall River, New Bedford and Brockton already heatless for the second day, the Massachusettts Public Safety committee and the Red Cross awaited only the word from city and town officials to begin mass evacuations.

At the same time, John H. Sullivan, state director of the agricultural market administration, announced that food held in storage for families on relief would be released for evacuated families.

In Boston, 100 policemen were transferred from their station house to others when the lack of oil forced closing of the North End station. Prisoners previously held there were taken to the Boston tombs.

Jap Transport Believed Hit

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 — The Navy announced today that American planes in the South Pacific continued to blast Japanese bases and shipping throughout the Solomons, and that a possible hit was scored on an enemy transport.

Jap Supply Lines In Pacific Areas Are Being Bombed

U. S. Aircraft And Surface Units Range Far Over Pacific Areas

JAP VESSEL SUNK SOUTH OF KISKA

One Day Mystery Is Created By Position Of Jap Vessel Later Sunk

By JOSEPH A. BORS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—U. S. aircraft and surface units ranged through the south and North Pacific today constantly blasting Jap bases and causing heavy damage to the increasingly vulnerable enemy supply lines.

While most of the action occurred in the South Pacific around the Solomon Islands, a one-day mystery was created when American medium bombers based in Alaska reported that they had sunk an enemy cargo ship 110 miles northeast of Jap-held Kiska. Such a position would place the vessel in the Bering Sea almost directly north of American outposts in the Pacific and it was the first time an enemy vessel had been reported in those waters.

It was possible, however, that the Jap ship previously had been damaged and was blown off its course or that it was making a wide circle to elude American air patrols and go to the north to land supplies on Kiska Island. There were other islands in the area which might be targets for a Jap attack but it was hardly believed likely that the enemy would attempt to seize any American island in that vicinity with just one cargo vessel.

GIVES FACTS ON WAR PRODUCTION

U. S. Armed Forces Have Grown To 7,000,000 Roosevelt Relates In Message

BULLETIN

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—President Roosevelt today promised the common people of the world that the armies of the United Nations will crush the Axis powers, destroy the philosophy of their present governments and insure a "durable peace" throughout the world in order to "attain some real, lasting good out of all these sufferings, bloodshed and death."

In his second war message to Congress, delivered in person before a wildly cheering audience, the President pledged an actual invasion of Europe and the constant bombing of the Japanese islands as a means of "pulling the fangs of the predatory animals of this world." He would not predict final victory in 1943 but declared the year will "give to the United Nations a very substantial advance along the roads that lead to Berlin and Rome and Tokyo."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—President Roosevelt, in a fighting speech before the 78th Congress, today pledged to the American people that the Axis and Fascist enemies in Europe and Japan will be bombed and smashed in their own countries.

"The Nazis and the Fascists have asked for it—and they are going to get it," the president declared in a spirited and stirring address before Congress on the state of the Union.

The president declared that while he could not for military reasons disclose where the United Nations would strike next in Europe, "we are going to strike—and strike hard."

While he said he would "not prophesy when this war will end," Mr. Roosevelt asserted that this Congress, with its two-year span

Allied Units Give Up Hills

Forced To Abandon Positions On Hills Around Djebel Azzag

COMMANDOS HAD CAPTURED HILLS

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)

LONDON, Jan. 7—Allied units, in the face of heavy German counter-attacks, were forced to give up their positions on strategic hills around Djebel Azzag, 15 miles west of Mateur after standing off the enemy all day, dispatches from the Tunisian battlefront said today.

British commandos infantry and paratroops, along with American Rangers, had taken the hills from the enemy but last night their position became untenable and they withdrew to points from which they started.

The hills guarded approaches to Mateur and Bizerte and Allied units were confronted with isolated machine gun posts in carrying out mopping up operations.

WAR BULLETINS

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—The State Department today announced that the American and British governments have agreed to waive all claims against each other arising out of collisions between ships controlled by them.

Both governments also have agreed to waive claims against each other arising out of damage to cargo and the rendering of salvage services.

This agreement, which was signed in London on December 4, has been concluded as a war measure designed to eliminate losses of tonnage and manpower in litigation processes.

CAIRO, Jan. 7.—Allied planes, operating from desert bases, have carried out new raids against Axis forces in Tunisia in the Allied aerial squeeze play against the enemy, an official communique disclosed today.

The repeatedly hit Port of Sousse was attacked Tuesday night. Fires were started on railroad sidings and near the Quays.

There was a slight increase in air activity over the desert battlefront while ground forces were concerned with patrol activity. An offensive operation was carried out yesterday over Sicily and Lampedusa Island, the communique added without describing the mission.

See Some Evidence Axis Planning Major Battle In Tunisia

(International News Service)

LONDON, Jan. 7.—Allied patrols sparred with Axis units throughout the Tunisian fighting zone today while one report from North Africa said there was growing evidence that Germany intended to oppose British, American and French forces in a major battle instead of merely fighting a delaying action.

In a dispatch relating to the massing of picked Allied and German troops on a 1,000-mile front along the North African coast, a correspondent of the Daily Express said that a large-scale conflict is inevitable.

"Not Going To Clear Out"

"The Germans are not going to fight a delaying action and clear out," the dispatch from Algiers said "They are going to defend Tunisia as a major front. Right now they are reinforcing with every modern weapon."

British forces, led by commandos and paratroops, which captured strategic hills from the Germans around Djebel Azzag, 15 miles west of Mateur, meanwhile consolidated their positions.

The Allied units mopped up isolated machine-gun posts after repulsing Nazi counter-attacks on their newly-gained positions southwest of the Bizerte naval base which afford control of a roadway across the northern battle area.

Col. Boyd D. Wagner's Body Is Found

Famous Hero Died In Crash

Missing In Florida Since November 30 After Routine Flight

ONE OF FIRST HEROES OF WAR

(International News Service)

EGLIN FIELD, Fla., Jan. 7—Lieut. Col. Boyd D. "Buzz" Wagner, 26, one of America's first air heroes of this war who disappeared on a routine flight November 30, met his death when his plane got out of control and plunged into the ground from a steep spin, evidence of the wreckage indicated today.

Discovery of the air hero's crushed body in the wreckage of his plane near Freeport, Fla., 25 miles from Eglin Field, was announced last night by Brig. Gen. Gardner Grandison, commanding officer of the air base.

Body Is Found

The body of Col. Wagner, who was credited with shooting down from 15 to 50 Japanese warplanes, was found crushed in the wreckage of his P-40 pursuit plane in which he disappeared while on a flight between Eglin Field and Maxwell Field, Ala., according to the general's statement.

"The plane was totally wrecked and partially buried, indicating that it had plunged into the ground out of control and probably from a steep spin," Gen. Grandison said.

"Identification was made by means of a wallet and other papers found on the remains of the pilot which were crushed in the plane."

The famous war ace, who was a native of Emeigh, Pa., near Johnstown, was one of the youngest Lieutenant Colonels in the U. S. Army. His exploits over the skies in the Philippines, Australia and New Guinea have become almost legendary.

Decorated for Heroism

As a first lieutenant in the Philippine campaign, he was awarded the distinguished service cross for extraordinary heroism, and later was decorated with the Purple Heart for being wounded in action.

In his DSC citation he was credited with having shot down five Japanese warplanes in close combat and having led his squadron against an enemy beachhead at Vigan where many enemy aircraft were destroyed.

Raised three full ranks to Lieutenant Colonel on being transferred to Australia, Col. Wagner continued his amazing air exploits. On his first mission over the New Guinea area he himself shot down three planes out of his squadron's official total of 23.

While his official "bag" of enemy warcraft never was disclosed, his flying companions have credited him with having shot down from 15 to 50 Japanese planes.

Shortly after Col. Wagner's disappearance November 30, several rewards were offered to spur the search. Among them were a reward of $1,000 in war bonds by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph and a $1,000 cash reward by a Johnstown philanthropist.

Col. Wagner was commissioned June 16, 1938, after completing his flying training at Randolph Field, Tex. Previously he studied engineering at Pittsburgh University. His mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Moody Wagner, lives in Johnstown.

Most of the departments are giving the less than $100 employe a ten dollar increase and dividing the balance among the higher paid employes.

The case of the extra employes, heretofore getting $2.75 per day, has not yet been settled, but if a 10 per cent increase is given to them it will mean but a $600 increase gross, there being about 12 temporary or daily employes who do not work the year around.

The payroll of the court house employes, before the increase was given, amounted to $119,820.

gateway city to the Caucasus repeatedly crashed down Nazi defenses over a wide area.

Battlefront dispatches said that the main Soviet force in the northern Caucasus was advancing rapidly to meet the Russian army coming down through the Kalmuk Republic and they were separated by only 80 miles.

These reports said that the northern Caucasian army was now less than 17 miles from Georgievsk while the Kalmuk army reached Urozhanoe, 120 miles south of Elista.

Tass, the official Russian news agency, said that the Red army, after a fierce 24-hour battle, hurled back the Germans attempting to make a stand at Tsimlyansk. Following the breaking of the German defense ring, long columns of the enemy retreated from the town Tass said. Tsimlyansk, midway between Stalingrad and Rostov, is an important river port and its recapture was announced earlier this week by the Russians.

Retreats By Nazis

Front dispatches told of retreats by the Nazis on many sectors of the Don and Caucasus fronts as they withdrew in the face of swift Soviet advances to escape entrapment and bolster German garrisons at vital Rostov.

Declaring in its noon communique that the offensive through the middle Don was smashing forward without let up, the Soviet high command said:

"One unit penetrated behind the enemy lines, routing columns of enemy reinforcements, killing 400 and capturing much booty."

In lunges southwest and west of Stalingrad, through the middle Don and northeastward through the mid-Caucasus, the Russian troops recaptured village after village, slaying hundreds of Germans, taking scores of others prisoner and seizing valuable equipment discarded by the Nazis in their flight.

In Stalingrad Area

Fighting and patrol activity continued on several sectors in the area of Stalingrad itself. A number of additional German lugouts were destroyed in the factory area of the Volga industrial city.

It was acknowledged that the Nazis made several sorties against Soviet positions northwest of Stalingrad but these were said to have been crushed. At one point the Russians cut off a group of German scouts from their main body. At another place the Russians assaulted enemy positions and occupied 20 trenches.

Attacking under cover of darkness, Red army forces southwest of Stalingrad broke into German positions and occupied two inhabited localities, the high command said.

Several inhabited points were recaptured in the middle Don fighting.

"Overcoming enemy resistance our forces continued their successful advance," the communique stated in referring to offensive operations in the northern Caucasus.

"During fighting for a large inhabited locality 300 Germans were killed and much booty taken."

Russian troops forged ahead also on the central front west of Moscow.

The Germans again counter-attacked west of Rzhev, 130 miles northwest of the Soviet capital, but the attempt was repelled.

"At the same time an enemy garrison at an inhabited locality was routed, and both booty and prisoners were taken," the high command said.

medium bombers started fires aboard the vessel and it was later seen to sink . . . in another raid, Alaskan-based heavy bombers scored one direct and two near hits on an enemy ship 185 miles southwest of Kiska.

Meanwhile, the American air and surface activities in the South Pacific reached a rising tempo. A U. S. task force, composed of surface units, successfully bombarded the Japanese airfield at Munda on New Georgia Island, about 175 miles northwest of Guadalcanal where U. S. forces have bottled up about 20,000 Japanese troops.

The Japanese for the past month have been trying desperately to build an airfield in the Munda area, apparently to give air support to its weary troops on Guadalcanal. However their efforts have been impeded by daily bombings by American aircraft and on January 5, the task force, under cover of darkness bombarded the airfield with heavy guns.

Raid On Munday

Even after the bombardment, medium Martin bombers followed through with an air raid on Munday. Results were not reported but the damage must have been heavy.

The task force, as it retired, was attacked by Japanese dive bombers but four U. S. Navy Wildcat fighters intercepted the enemy planes and shot down four of them and probably destroyed two more without a single loss.

Biggers U. S. bombers, of the Flying Fortress type, meanwhile cruised as far as 300 miles northward from Guadalcanal and attacked an enemy heavy cruiser near Buin on the island of Bougainville. Results were not observed. U. S. fighters which provided an air umbrella for the bombers, engaged 25 Zeros and enemy seaplanes, shooting down at least three and probably destroying two others. Two U. S. planes were lost in the battle.

Will Present Bil

Announcing that he and Sen. Kilgore (D) W. Va., would reintroduce the bill in the present session of congress, Pepper said hearings would be continued.

The subcommittee's report declares three alternatives are before the nation in its war production difficulties. They are, it stated:

1. To bring about integrated production planning through the creation of the office of war mobilization.

2. To continue to "muddle through with the present dispersion of powers and lack of coordination, or

3. To centralize the control of the civilian economy under the military.

The subcommittee declared that full mobilization of the country's resources must rest in civilian hands, adding that the bill to be reintroduced calls for an economic general staff in relation to the civilian war effort.

CONGRESS TOLD AXIS WILL BE SMASHED IN PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

"may have the historic privilege of helping greatly to save the world from future fear."

To Strike At Japan

Commenting on the Japanese the president declared that the growing American might "will become evident to the Japanese people themselves when we strike at their own home islands, and bomb them constantly from the air."

For the United States forces, the president said that the period of defensive action in the Pacific is passing and "now our aim is to force the Japanese to fight.

"The period of our defensive attrition in the Pacific is passing," the president said. "Now our aim is to force the Japanese to fight. Last year, we stopped them. This year we intend to advance."

7,000,000 In Armed Forces

In his message the chief executive disclosed that there are now one and one-half million United States soldiers, sailors, marines and flyers in service in foreign areas throughout the world. During 1942, he related, the American armed forces grew in size from 2,000,000 to 7,000,000 men and officers.

Turning his attention to the domestic front, Mr. Roosevelt told congress and the nation that "our forward progress in this was has depended on the production front."

The president asserted that the 1942 goals of war production were met for the most part, although "some people, including some experts, thought that we had pulled some big figures out of a hat just to frighten the Axis."

Production Records

During the year, the president disclosed that the United States produced 48,000 military planes—more than the airplane production of the Axis—56,000 tanks and other combat vehicles, 670,000 machine guns, 21,000 anti-tank guns, ten and a quarter billion rounds of small arms ammunition and 181,000,000 rounds of artillery ammunition.

"The arsenal of democracy is making good," the president stated, adding that:

"These facts and figures will give no aid and comfort to the enemy. On the contrary, I can imagine, they will give him considerable discomfort. I suspect Hitler and Tojo will find it difficult to explain to the German and Japanese people just why it is that 'decadent, inefficient democracy' can produce such phenomenal quantities of weapons and munitions—and fighting men."

Mr. Roosevelt recognized that there has been "criticism of the management and conduct of our war production," but he declared that much of this "has had a healthy effect. It has spurred us on."

There is, however, "some criticism based on guesswork and even on malicious falsification of fact.... (which) create doubts and fears, and weakens our total effort," he declared.

For Post-War Years

After recounting the battle and the production progress of 1942, the first year of war, the president turned his attention to planning for the post-war years.

High on the list of war aims, the president placed the third of the four freedoms—freedom from want.

After the war, the president declared that the people of the United States "expect the opportunity to work, to run their farms, their stores, to earn decent wages....

"They do not want a post-war America which suffers from undernourishment or slums—or the dole. They want no get-rich-quick era of bogus 'prosperity', which will end for them in selling apples on a street corner, as happened after the bursting of the boom in 1929."

Emphasizing his disagreement with some of his advisers, the president declared that this was the "time to speak of a better America after the war...

"If the security of the individual citizen, or the family, should become a subject of national debate, the country knows where I stand.

Large Task

"I say this now to this 78th congress, because it is wholly possible that freedom from want—the right of employment and the right of assurance against life's hazards—will loom very large as a task of America during the coming two years.

"I trust it will not be regarded as an issue—but rather as a task for all of us to study sympathetically, to work out with a constant regard for the attainment of the objective."

In reviewing the first war year, President Roosevelt declared that "by far the largest and most important developments in the whole strategic picture of 1942 were the events on the long fronts in Russia: first, the implacable defense of Stalingrad; and, second, the offensives by the Russian armies at various points which started in the latter part of November and which still roll on with great force and effectiveness.

Other Major Events

"The other major events of the year were: the series of Japanese advances in the Philippines, the East Indies, Malaya and Burma; the stopping of the Japanese in the mid-Pacific, the south Pacific and the Indian oceans; the successful defense of the near east by the British counter-attack through Libya; the American-British occupation of North Africa.

"Of continuing importance in the year 1942 were the unending, bitterly-contested battles of the convoy routes, and the gradual passing of air superiority from the Axis to the United Nations.

"The Axis powers knew that they must win the war in 1942—or eventually lose everything. I do not need to tell you that our enemies did not win this war in 1942."

While American action in the Pacific was classified as "essentially defensive" during 1942, the president declared that "during this period we inflicted steady losses upon the enemy—great losses of Japanese planes, naval vessels, transports and cargo ships....

"We know that as each day goes by, Japanese strength in ships and planes is going down and down, and American strength in ships and planes is going up and up. The eventual outcome can be put on a mathematical basis. That will become evident to the Japanese people themselves when we strike at their own home islands, and bomb them constantly from the air."

In the coming offensive against Hitler and Mussolini in Europe, the president declared:

Will Hammer Relentlessly

"I cannot prophesy. I cannot tell you when or where the United Nations are going to strike next in Europe. But we are going to strike—and strike hard. I cannot tell you whether we are going to hit them in Norway, or through the low countries, or in France, or through Sardinia or Sicily, or through the Balkans, or through Poland—or at several points simultaneously. But I can tell you that no matter where and when we strike by land, we and the British and the Russians will hit them from the air heavily and relentlessly. Day in and day out we shall heap tons and tons of explosives on their war factories and utilities and seaports.

"Hitler and Mussolini will understand the enormity of their miscalculations—that the Nazis would always have the advantage of superior air power as they did when they bombed Warsaw, Rotterdam, London and Coventry. That superiority has gone—forever."

On the domestic front, the president lauded the war production achievements made during 1942 while the United States was actually withdrawing men from the ranks of labor and farms to build up the armed forces.

Some Dislocations

From this, the president declared was bound to arise "some dislocations in our normal, national life, some inconveniences and even some hardships.

"Who could have hoped to have done this without burdensome government regulations, which are a nuisance to everyone — including those who have the thankless task of administering them.

"We all know that there have been mistakes—mistakes due to the inevitable process of trial and error inherent in doing big things for the first time. We all know that there have been too many complicated forms and questionnaires. I know about that. I have had to fill some of them out myself."

While there have been "inconveniences and disturbances—and even hardships" in 1942, President Roosevelt declared that "there will be many, many more before we finally win. Yes, 1942 will not be an easy year for us on the home front. We shall feel in many ways in our daily lives the sharp pinch of total war."

President Roosevelt, in his speech, termed 1942 as the year of "perhaps the most crucial for modern civilization," but looked forward to the coming year as holding "high promise of better things" although he anticipated that it would be "filled with violent conflict."

canes equipped with bomb racks patrolled the northern area and bombed and strafed Axis forces sighted in the vicinity.

Blast Airfield

United States Army Air Forces operated far to the south. Martin Marauders blasted the Axis airfield at Kairouan under escort of Lockheed Lightnnig fighters.

The Allied campaign to destroy principal enemy Tunisian ports was continued with raids by American craft based in the west and British and American planes from points in the middle east. The harbors of Sfax and Sousses were singled out by the Allied fliers for their latest attacks.

Neither Allied headquarters or French headquarters in Tunisia had anything new to report on the situation to the south around Pichon where French infantrymen, using American equipment and supported by Allied air units, beat back a German thrust against their positions.

The Stockholm newspaper Svenska Dagbladet published a Berlan report stating that Lieut. Gen Walther Nehring, Axis commander in chief in Tunisia, had been succeeded in command by Gen. Von Arnim. The account did not specify whether Gen. Nehring also would remain in Tunisia.

A fighting French communique said that French troops operating in the Fezzan area in southern Libya were able to resume their northward advance.

ALLIED UNITS GIVE UP HILLS

bombers blasted German positions around Kairouan, twice bombing an enemy camp south of the city and attacking railway yards there.

The RAF also was in action, carrying out protective sweeps for Allied trops fighting west of Mateur.

On the other arm of the aerial pincers, Allied planes from the western desert hit hard at Sousse, scoring hits on railways and quays of the important enemy port.

One report from the North African battlefront said that there was growing evidence that Germany intended to oppose British, American and French forces in a major battle instead of merely fighting a delaying action.

FRANCES FARMER VIOLATES PAROLE

(International News Service)

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Jan 7.—Film Actres Frances Farmer today was named in a warrant issued by Santa Monica police for her arrest as a parole violator.

The warrant was issued for the actress' alleged failure to pay the second part of a $250 fine she received three months ago for drunken driving, police said.

It is always smarter to tell the people the truth. Then they will believe a lie when the nation's safety requires one.

J. W. Hartwell Expires Today

John W. Hartwell, aged 62 years, well known local business man, who resided at 329 New Castle avenue, New Wilmington, died in the Jameson Memorial hospital at 12:50 o'clock this afternoon. He was president of the Universal Sales Co.

Mr. Hartwell was injured in an automobile accident Tuesday afternoon, but his injuries were not of a serious nature. Complications, it is said, contributed to his death drafted to be ready for immediate use if the current situation gets worse.

BAN ON PLEASURE DRIVING IN EFFECT; ALSO FUEL OIL CUT

Price Administrator Leon Henderson said that it may be necessary to cut commercial use of fuel oil even further.

"We can make no predictions at this time," he said, warning all who can to convert to the use of coal.

OPA officials said each individual user of fuel oil would have complete freedom of action in adjusting his consumption to the lower ration allowance which approximates only 45 percent of normal peacetime usages.

May Be Curtailment

Schools in some areas may decide to shorten their daily classroom schedule, while others may close a day or two each week. Theaters may curtail the number of shows. Also hit by the fuel oil cut were office buildings, barber shops, butcher shops, super-markets, beauty parlors, garages, colleges, museums and similar non-residential establishments.

All holders of fuel oil heating rations for premises other than private dwellings must return their rations to local boards during the week of January 18, if more than 30 percent of the floor area is used for non-residential purposes. Coupons will be removed for each of the three remaining heating periods—three, four and five.

Gas Ban Enforcement

The ban on pleasure driving by "A", "B" and "C" gasoline book holders—including trips to the corner grocery, the neighbors, racetracks, theaters and social events—will be enforced by the thousands of eastern state, county and municipal policemen.

OPA said obvious misuse of gasoline—such as the presence of a car at a race track or theater—will be considered prima facie evidence of violation and result in immediate seizure of the driver's gasoline ration book. In cases of reasonable doubt, police will report the violation to the local board for a hearing, leaving the ration book in the hands of the driver.

In all cases, however, the burden of proving the essential nature of trip will rest wholly with the motorist, OPA said.

Although the fuel oil slash will continue during the entire heating season, OPA placed no time limit on the extent of the prohibition on pleasure driving and said it was impossible to estimate the amount of gasoline saved by the latter move.

FAR-REACHING EFFECTS SEEN IN FUEL ORDER

common cold will be commoner and longer week-ends, probably suspension of Saturday or Monday office hours, will be in vogue.

Other Effests Seen

Non-essential industries which are heavy consumers of oil may be forced to close down entirely if they cannot be converted to coal.

Public transportation, buses, street cars, taxicabs, will carry heavier loads than now and in most communities they already are operating under heavy strain.

The demand for coal will rise and the mines will be rushed which brings a labor and price problem into the picture (O.P.A. has already upped anthracite prices 50 cents a ton at the mines).

The simple pleasures of visiting—unless the visit is close by—going to the movies or even going to town to window shop will be put away for the duration.

Economic changes will be so numerous as to be beyond full compilation but there will be heavy loss to amusement operators; to state treasuries from miscellaneous taxes headed by automobile registration and gas tax; to gasoline dealers.

The war has really come to the eastern states.

PIGOTT DIAMOND
The Stone That Returned to Dust!
This noteworthy diamond ultimately found its way into the castle of the Ali Pasha, Khedive of Egypt, in 1818. All regarded the diamond and his wife, Visilica, as his two greatest treasures. When he was assassinated in 1882, the aged ruler, in his last moments, ordered his men to strangle Vasilica, and crush the stone to a powder, so that his assassin should not benefit by the possession of either. The lady escaped, but the diamond did not . . . so the Pigott is a thing of the past.

UNION LABEL

'REMEMBER 1918!'

DISPATCHES from neutral Switzerland say that the numerals "1918," chalked on many walls in Nazi-occupied countries, are giving the Germans the major jitters. For, although the familiar "V" sign connotes confidence of Allied victory, the number "1918" suggests to the Germans all the troubles and hardships that defeat in the First World War brought to them.

Furthermore, although the Kaiser's armies seemed to be winning as late as July, 1918, they were asking an armistice four short months later. No wonder the Germans don't like to be reminded of that fateful year.

It would be pushing the analogy too far to hold that conditions in January, 1943, indicate an early collapse of Hitler's fighting forces or his home front. Gangster barbarians can't be defeated with wishful thinking or historical parallels. But in all Allied propaganda to Germany the simple theme ought to be reiterated constantly: "Remember 1918!"

TURK NEUTRALITY WAVERS

It is possible that negotiations under way between Turkey and Russia for a formal non-aggression pact, with the United States the intercessionist in case of disagreement, mark the end of Turkey's period of fence sitting. Ankara statesmen have surveyed the situation and seem to have concluded that the Axis will lose the war.

Von Papen, who has been in Turkey for months trying to keep it within the Axis orbit, has failed, but the failure is not so much diplomatic as military. The Rommel-Hitler reverses in North Africa and Russia mark the turning of the tide and the Turks are reading the signs correctly.

The movement of supplies into Turkey will increase as the Mediterranean is cleared of the Axis. Probably by spring a well-equipped Turkish army will be too formidable for Hitler to risk an attack, and thus another segment of the tightening ring around the Nazis will be sealed.

KNIVES ARE NECESSARY

The more industry is analyzed by government agencies for the purpose of putting it at the full service of the armed forces, the more it is emphasized that activities in this age are amazingly inter-related.

An example of this has bobbed up in an argument made to the War Production Board by manufacturers of cutlery—that more knives for meat packers, which lack of priority in the steel used might prevent, would be of benefit to the war effort.

The reason for this is that the present method of packing meat for shipment to armed forces overseas has more than doubled requirements for such knives. Previously the whole side or full carcass was shipped from packing establishments, but now the carcass is completely boned, then quick-frozen, paraffin-coated, packed in cartons and shipped. This method saves about one-third the shipping space and one-fifth the weight.

Cutlery manufacturers contend that savings in space and weight more than offset the extra steel required for knives used in preparing meats under the present method.

LET'S ALL BUY WAR STAMPS

The Treasury's drive starting this week, to boom the sales of war savings stamps, is a necessary supplement to the December war bond campaign which was such a fine success.

When these stamps were first offered to the public, sales amounted to three million dollars a month. Lately they have been hitting the fifty million monthly mark. There are 100 million stamp albums outstanding, a measure of the wide popularity of this enterprise, but they are by no means filled.

That duty should be completed speedily and the albums turned in for war bonds. Still more stamp books should be put in the hands of the people. Here is a way for everybody to help in financing the most costly war in our history.

We must still buy war bonds outright to the limit, but even those with abundant means should get in the habit of purchasing war savings stamps as well. The total contribution from this source will give a lift to the treasury, so let's all be stamp collectors, steadily turning our collections into war bonds and keeping up the good work until the day of victory that now seems to be definitely approaching.

NO PAUSES NOW

Probably Hitler's major lack is the opportunity for the refreshing pause. Until this winter he has always had it in some measure.

Following Poland there was a long lapse while weapons were massed and manpower trained. During that span the West Wall was completed and armies placed in position for an offensive. That was the period in which the world took great satisfaction in dispatches reporting advances by the French into Germany territory.

Even after Norway, a comparatively minor operation, Hitler took his time in launching his great drive into the Low Countries and France, probably a strategical blunder but Hitler was following his considered policy of not crowding one military move upon another.

The campaigns in Yugoslavia, Greece and Crete were succeeded by several months of preparation for the Russian invasion. And while Hitler did not get the winter surcease he expected a year ago, still he was not pressed anywhere in the west.

Now whatever repairing the Nazis can do of their worn weapons and wasted manpower they must do amid the bursting of bombs and the foray of armed enemies. Hitherto Rommel has always had opportunity to recoup following a reverse. But today nowhere are rest camps available to Nazi effectives.

They must meet Allied offensives in Russia and North Africa and guard Europe. The pause that refreshes is not to be had. And so it will be not only for the Axis in Europe but in the Pacific until the end.

Judging by battle reports, Russia is enjoying the most severe winter since last year.

Joe Louis is instructing soldiers in boxing, and at last reports no one had licked the teacher.

If the current scarcity of butter continues, ownership of a cow may soon impart the social status that at one time accompanied possession of a Rolls Royce.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

LEARN EFFECTIVE WAYS TO CONTROL A CHILD

Many parents wish to control the young child without constant punishment and scolding. Not all parents, however, are so frank as the mother who wrote the following:

"Dear Dr. Myers:—We have a boy 21 months old and during these 21 months neither my husband nor I have learned to handle him. Neither of us knew anything about children but we thought we'd know from instinct just how to go about bringing him up happily. None of our ideas seemed to work. We just can't make him mind unless we spank him. That lasts only until he decides he wants to get into or do something else. It's just spanking and scolding all day and every day and it's making me very cross and nervous.

"Sometimes we even regret having him, but when he puts his arms around us and kisses us or tries a new word or does some new trick we're sorry we ever had such thoughts. We really aren't sorry we have him; we just want to learn to be good parents and still have his love and respect when he's grown. Hoping you can help us, I am enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp begging you to write me."

I did, assuring her that it is possible to guide a child well without scolding and with very little punishment of any sort. Here are excerpts from my letter to her.

Must Plan A Program

At a quiet relaxed time, you and your husband should sit down together and plan a program. Dwell on this simple principle: You should make painful to the young child only a very few things he must never do, and pleasant many times more things he may do or you want him to do. Don't, therefore, punish him to make him do things. Persuade him, with eternal patience.

Rule out scolding and a sharp voice as a means of control. Agreeing on a few things this tot must never do, such as running into the street and a few objects he must not touch, such as the floor lamp, decide that every time he does one of these forbidden things he shall get instant pain, preferably a spanking, when you will say NO just in a moderate tone. Remember it must be instant or not at all, and there must be no exceptions. Therefore, one of you parents be right by the side of this tot always when he may be tempted to do these things, till he learns to avoid them permanently. Merely intercept him to keep him from other dangers.

Other Suggestions

Always when he must be punished for a definite forbidden act, have present or in mind attractive objects or activities he can turn to with pleasure.

As soon as he will stay where he is put, abandon spanking and for it substitute assigning him to sit where you can see him for a definite time (say 20 minutes.)

During the many times when he is doing right be liberal with affection and approval. Don't hesitate to cuddle and fondle him.

Read to him often. Listen attentively as he talks and answer his questions. Learn to enjoy his questions. Learn to enjoy his scribbling, drawing, coloring, play with blocks, inventions with words or things.

Let both parents strive to be calm and cheerful, always working for poise and self-control.

I have prepared a selected list of books and pamphlets written to help parents guide the infant, child and adolescent happily, to be had without cost to you, by writing me at 235 East 45th street, New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. What do you consider the best way to teach a tot to avoid playing with matches and, when he has once started playing with matches and building fires, what is a good cure?

A. Teach the tot early the meaning of NO and include matches as one of the things he must never have or touch, seeing that he gets an instant spanking when he does. Once he has practiced at setting fires, closely supervise him. Have Dad take the lad to a safe open field and have the youngster start fires continuously for several hours, hoping it will create a distaste for the activity. In the meantime, build him up with more love and affection and more interest in creative play.

This country is going to be better after the war is over. The women are going to take a hand in running things.

The true test of ability is to win applause from people who do not like us.

Mr. Willkie urges more action and fewer words. That holds good for everybody these days.

Isn't it strange that the world's biggest industrial jobs are handled satisfactorily and efficiently by men who don't wear spats, carry a cane or know enough to knot a necktie properly.

PERT AND PERTENT

"It is bad form to call her the 'better half' . . . "—and, quite often it is inaccurate.

"A man's reputation is a combination of what he thinks he is and what his friends say about him."—and, what his enemies talk about him behind his back.

And, it was Lincoln who said 'Let the people know the truth and the country is safe.'

The great trouble in this country is that politicians don't know how to use politics in the right place.

We don't know who said this, but we heartily concur. "If a man cannot see beauty in a flower bed I do not care for his friendship."

A fond father went to a school to see what progress his son was making. In response to his inquiry the principal said: "Your son will probably go down in history. . . ."

"That's good news," glowed the parent.

The principal lifted his eye brows and continued: "But he might do better in geography and the other subjects."

It is said a local bird is so stingy that every time he spends a quarter he takes a drug to relieve the pain.

According to a Washington survey only one per cent of the people wear nightshirts. Before accepting this as conclusive it would be interesting to have a Gallup poll on the subject.

A proposed law before the Pennsylvania legislature would prohibit the voting of straight party tickets at elections. That sure would make it hard for the birds who cannot read.

DUTIES OF GOVERNESS

"For the first time in my life I am able to afford a nurse-governess for my small children. Please give me some information regarding her duties, her hours and just how she should be treated—whether as a member of the family or as a domestic."—M. N. R.

Answer: First of all, you should choose a woman of culture and refinement, one who is very fond of children and who can gain their respect and confidence.

She should be treated as a member of the family, eating her meals with the children or in the nursery. She should sit in the living room with the family and go out with them occasionally, perhaps to church or to concerts. She should sleep in a room adjoining that of the children and superintend the preparation of their food, looking after their clothes, laundry, baths and teaching them manners.

While the nurse-governess' duties and responsibilities are more or less continuous, she must have certain hours of relaxation and freedom arranged at your and her mutual convenience.

Even though you choose the best nurse-governess extant, do not put your children entirely in her care. Always keep an eye on them and spend part of every day in their company. Children who are brought up by outsiders are lonely for a mother's affectionate care and invariably lack an entirely happy childhood.

Answer: Flowers that harmonize in color with the color of her suit. It should be supplied by the bridegroom.

LIFTING THE VEIL

The minister advertised for a man-servant and next morning a nicely dressed young man rang the bell.

"Can you start the fire and get breakfast by seven o'clock," asked the minister.

"I guess so," answered the young man.

"Say, parson," said the young fellow, "I came here to see about getting married but if it's going to be as much work as all that, you can count me out right now."

The Japs have it all wrong when they claim that America started the war. America is the country that is going to finish it and the Japanese empire as well.

In some ways a sales tax is not so good. There are people who can get only so much money and paying this tax would be a burden on them.

This talk of Americans having no end of money sounds like a wild rumor to us.

Add obsolete words: "How do you stand it so hot in here?"

It might be worse. Banks still don't charge you interest on the money they keep for you.

Cotton is still a slave crop. No man can make money out of it except by exploiting another one.

It took long arms to do it, but Canada and Mexico have shaken hands across the U. S. A.

Let's not be too critical about children not having good manners. How can they learn good manners when they can't see any at home?

See the industrious ladies. So many welding on airplanes and so many chiseling on ration rules.

Mail Delivery Capital's Newest Headache
Public Appealed To For Help In Emergency
Is Asked To Write Only Necessary Letters

By CHARLES P. STEWART
(Central Press Columnist)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7—The post-office department has just issued an appeal to the public to mail no unnecessary letters.

Frivolous telephone calls and little expressions of good wishes at the end of telegrams already are banned. That kind of stuff can be spotted and held up. However it's more difficult to maintain control over small sentences of family chat in sealed up and stamped postage.

It's almost impossible to stop and keep the service going.

However, the department has the situation under fair control by making deliveries too unreliable to be worth monkeying with even if attempted.

There aren't collectors to make collections. There aren't carriers to deliver 'em. I get and dispatch considerable mail and at least 75 per cent of it simply disintegrates.

Business concerns tell me the same thing.

Delivery kids seem to be the little miscreants.

Boys to Blame

Small boys have been put on the job as substitutes for responsible carriers. The little squirts are worthless.

Illustratively:

I have a house on a well known street with its name tagged on every corner and my numbers conspicuously marked in front and the kid reports that he can't find that address. The mail piles up for awhile and then the regular carrier registers present. Maybe your news paper deliveries are the same way. In the morning you ought to get it around 8 a. m. If you get it at 9, you're lucky. The trouble with 'em is that you're dealing with those irresponsible little kids on jobs as substitutes. You could kick if they were regulars but you have to be thankful to get 'em as substitutes.

Business in Washington is in the same general way. The postoffice is better than the average because it's better established.

Half a dozen years ago my young daughter undertook an expedition, accompanied by her mother, from our rented family headquarters in Washington, out into nearby suburban Alexandria, on the Virginia side of the Potomac, for a look at the Revolutionary historical scenery that the burg fairly bulges with.

It's a pretty little place and they fancied it. Accordingly, returning to the capital, they informed me that they'd decided we were to buy a small house there.

With my wife I have a certain amount of influence. So far as she was concerned, my protest might have weighed materially. My daughter, however, wasn't brought up to be subservient to her dad's dictation.

"Whatever you may think about it," daughter announced definitely, "we're going to acquire that shack in Alexandria."

Naturally I had no option but to compromise by acquiescing.

We moved, then, out to Alexandria. My daughter arranged the dicker. I was to dig up regular monthly instalments, to run pretty well on into perpetuity, with final ownership of the house and lot ultimately to vest itself in me, if I

The World and the Mud Puddles

MORE BABIES

In this first war year of 1942, approximately three million American babies will have their birth dates—half a million more than were born in 1941, when an all-time American birth record was set!

The birth rate in war-clouded England is rising!

The element of life seems the one unconquerable element in this mysterious world. Even when man himself abets death, setting forth to kill with the deadliest weapons his mind can invent, life remains unconquerable. Even the tremendous blood-letting of World War I, when eight million five hundred thousand men were killed in battle alone, and many millions died from privation, halted but briefly the steady rise in the world's population.

Two centuries ago, the newborn babe had a life expectancy of thirty-three years. By 1850, in America, the life average had reached forty years. By 1900, it was fifty years. A baby born this year has an even chance of living to the age of sixty-four years!

Man's achievement in the conquest of disease, in sanitation, in surgery, in nutrition, in hygiene, have always outstripped his achievements in the destructive sciences of self-destruction through the implements of war.

There is a death in America every twenty-three seconds.

But a baby is born every fourteen seconds!

Life remains the unconquerable.

Hints On Etiquette

Don't try to "reform" your friends and acquaintances. There is just one person—and that is yourself. It is rude to interfere with another's life unless you are urged to help.

LOOKING AT LIFE

—By Erich Brandeis

A Massachusetts husband inserted the usual "left my bed and board" notice in the local newspaper when he and his wife decided to break it up (no pun intended).

So the lady love put this advertisement in the same paper:

SPECIAL NOTICE

I did not leave John's bed and board. It was my bed, given me by my uncle and I was kicked out of it and put out, and as for my bills, he never was responsible. I was for his and ones I wasn't, have never been paid.

Mrs.——(name deleted by censor).

I love my wife. Love not being measurable with a yard-stick, I can only say I love her oodles and oodles. And, as you know, that is a whole lot.

But every once in a while, I get mad as all heck with her.

Women can be terrifically aggravating at times. Particularly when they are right.

And when I get mad at her, I try to think up something that will really hurt her—like chasing her out of the house, throwing her out of the window, or something.

Just when I get to the boiling point, I sneak into my den and close the door.

And I take out two bundles of letters that I have hidden away. (I won't tell you where, my wife might see this.)

One bundle contains the letters she wrote me when we were courting. The other were my letters to her. (I know where she keeps them.)

Then, in my mind, I go back over the years.

She was the one girl for me, and I guess I must have been the one fellow for her.

She was wonderful. I was grand (so she said).

What has happened? I'm still the same guy—she's still the same. It's right there on the birth certificate and on the marriage license.

What has happened? I ask again? Could it be, perhaps, that I've gotten to be a d—m fool?

So what do I do.

I go out, give her a big kiss, she gives me one, and everything is hunkydory.

No "bed and board" notice for us!

Item: elimination of all "A" gas ration cards urged.

Rise up little man, put on your shoe
Your transportation is in your hooves.
Early to bed and early to rise
Will get you to work with the other guys.

Come on little man and try your pedals
And don't be expecting any medals
If it's hard on you it's tough on the Axis
And you can't beat them with gasoline taxes.

Gas is needed for tanks and planes
So kiss your car goodbye again
Put it on blocks for the duration
And fall in with the rest of the nation.

It will be tough but remember Lidice
What happened to Poland, Holland and Greece
And be glad that nothing more's asked of you
Than that you transfer from car to shoe.

So come little man, get on your feet
And hay foot straw foot and repeat
You'll get so you'll walk like crazy
Come little chum, now upsey-daisy!

Jap Base At Lae Heavily Bombed

Allied Bombers Make New Attack At New Guinea Jap Stronghold

UNITED NATIONS HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, Jan. 7—Allied medium bombers, returning over the Japanese base at Lae, Northeast New Guinea, heavily bombed the airdrome there and knocked out four enemy anti-aircraft positions, it was announced today in a communique.

The Lae airport area was also strafed with machine-gun fire. Supplies and installations were set afire. A Jap twin-engined bomber caught on the ground was set aflame.

"Four anti-aircraft positions were destroyed by direct hits," the communique said.

An allied heavy bomber ranging out over New Britain Island to the east attacked the airdrome at Gasmata on the south coast.

Medium bomber and fighter planes meanwhile bombed and strafed Jap positions at Sanananda Point, six miles northwest of Buna in the Papua territory.

The communique said that ground positions at Sanananda were unchanged as American and Australian forces completed final preparations for a major assault to blast the Japs from their sole remaining stronghold in Papua.

live long enough, or, if I die, for my wife and daughter to inherit it.

Howled in Vain

Well, we moved. Commutation was just as bad as I'd anticipated. The expense was of no great consequence. Monthly payments and transportation hardly footed as much as a Washington rental in those days. The trips were an infernal nuisance, though. I howled constantly, but there was nothing I could do about it. My daughter got married and went to Argentina; then Mexico. I still was stuck with the initial proposition.

Then the war popped.

Washington filled up to such an extent that it was overflowing. Rentals skyhooted. Due to the overflow, they likewise sky-hooted in all of Washington's suburbs, such as Alexandria. That didn't make any difference to me, though, because my monthly levy already was fixed by previous contract, and actually was piling up into future ownership.

Presently, rental ceilings had to be slapped on, under governmental authority. They couldn't hike my deal, nevertheless. I had mine anchored. Taxes can catch me, but not monthly payments.

Besides, my equity's worth an increasing figure while the war lasts, and I aim to unload when the proper time comes.

Now I wish I could take credit for having made a smart move but my family knows better.

Clogged Gun Still Makes Good Cudgel

Americans In New Guinea Fell Jap Troops With Butt Ends Of Weapons

(International News Service)

SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA, Jan. 7.—A story of how seven Americans soldiers who found their guns clogged by sand disposed of an equal number of Japs by felling them with the butt ends of their weapons was told today by Lieut. Herman Davis of Chicago.

Lieut. Davis was in command of a group of six men with United States forces besieging Sanananda Point north of Buna.

Early Sunday morning, Davis related, his command had tunneled themselves to within 10 yards of an enemy position under cover of darkness. As dawn arrived the group made a dash for a Jap bunker-type pillbox. Their Tommy guns were poised for quick action.

The Americans arrived at the pillbox after a running leap. They attempted to fire their guns but found them jammed by sand after the night of tunneling. Not one gun fired.

Just as nonplussed as the bewildered Japs, the Yanks speedily swung their weapons around and felled the seven Nipponese with the butts before the enemy troops could make a move.

Anthracite Miners Stage Mass Strike

Estimate 17,000 in Walkout, Closing Down Major Operations Vital To War

(International News Service)

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Jan. 7.—An estimated 17,000 anthracite miners were on strike today in protest against increased union dues, closing down the major operations of the world's largest producer of hard coal and aggravating the serious lack of fuel along the eastern seaboard.

Overriding the pleas of John L. Lewis, president, and other officials of the United Mine Workers of America, that they return to work until their greivances were settled, additional miners halted operations in Luzerne county, heart of the anthracite region.

Food Industry Committees To Solve Shortages

Food Administrator Wickard Makes First Move Toward Correcting Food Situation

By ALVIN ROSENFELD
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—In his first recognition of the series of critical food shortages that have been reported throughout the nation, Food Administrator Wickard today set about establishing food industry committees to solve food problems.

The committees, Wickard said, will be responsible for providing food wherever a shortage occurs and for striking at the roots of the problem by correcting the specific causes of local shortages.

Each committee will be set up within 10 days, he pledged.

The situation has been specifically serious in war-swollen cities where distribution systems were taxed by populations beyond normal, it was reported.

Wickard's plan calls for using the technical skill and experience of food manufacturers, distributors and processors. Grocers as well as meat packers, vegetable processors and super-market managers will be represented on each local committee, although the committees will be headed by a food distribution expert.

Wickard's assistant, FDA Head Roy F. Hendrickson, outlined the steps the commitee system will take to solve the food problems.

1. Each local committee will establish publicly-announced complaint centers, verify each complaint brought in by the public within one day, and "take immediate steps to relieve the shortage through voluntary cooperation locally, calling upon manufacturers or distributors to expedite food movement to the point of shortage."

2. If this fails to fill the shortage, state committees should be called in to locate the needed food within the state.

3. Should this move also fail, the regional FDA chiefs or FSA headquarters in Washington should be called into action to scour the country for the requirements.

Asks Return Of Drafted Farmers

Senator Bankhead Proposes Solution To Food Shortage-Inflation Problem

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7. — Sen. Bankhead (D), Ala., today called for the return of drafted farmers to the farms to avoid possibility of a food shortage and to aid in keeping down prices and thus avoiding inflation.

"The number of food producers in proportion to the demand now is so small that it is alarming," said Bankhead. "They ought to stop drafting farm workers and to return every farm boy from the army or navy to the farm where he is needed."

Although congress enacted a provision in the 18-19 draft bill for exemption of farm workers, Bankhead said that they still are being drafted at a rapid rate.

Declarifg that increase in the size of the army should be halted, Bankhead proposed instead that millions of Russians, Chinese and other United Nations fighters be equipped with American arms.

Huge Japanese Armada Has Now Been Reinforced

(International News Service)

MELBOURNE, Jan. 7.—Aerial reconnaissance shows that the huge Japanese armada at Rabaul, New Britain, has been heavily reinforced since last Tuesday, an official announcement said tonight.

Despite Allied bombing attacks, the fleet now represents the largest concentration of enemy merchant shipping ever assembled at Rabaul, the announcement said.

The armada, strongly supported by warships, exceeds in size even the gigantic Japanese fleet assembled for the first enemy counter-attack against the Solomon Islands.

Social Reforms Not Presented

President Does Not Call For Specific Social Security Action In Message

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7—President Roosevelt failed to call for a specific social security program in his state of the Union message to Congress today, but we made it clear that he regards 'freedom from want" a vital war and post-war objective.

The President emphasized his position by saying it is "wholly possible that freedom from want—the right of employment and the right of assurance against life's hazards—will loom very large as a task of America during the coming two years."

The absence of a specific call for enactment of new social security legislation was viewed as at least a partial victory for congressional opponents of such a program at this time. But Mr. Roosevelt balanced this portion of his speech to the 78th congress by saying:

"I have been told that this is no time to speak of a better America after the war. I am told it is a grave error on my part.

"I dissent.

"If the security of the individual citizen, or the family, should become a subject of national debate, the country knows where I stand.

"I say this now to the seventy-eighth congress, because it is wholly possible that freedom from want—the right of employment and the right of assurance against life's hazards—will loom very large as a task of America during the coming two years."

Survivors Land In Boston With 34 Out Of 74 Still Missing After Torpedoing

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Jan. 7.—Twenty-four crewmen were believed killed in the sinking of a U. S. merchant vessel from whose 74-man crew 34 still are missing, survivors landed in Boston reported today.

The fourteen survivors said the vessel was sunk by a torpedo off the West Coast of Africa in November and that they believed their crewmates died when the ship went down in two minutes. Two other survivors previously were landed at another North Atlantic port.

Although they had no knowledge of the fate of the 34 others, crewmen said the ship was abandoned in orderly fashion and there was a chance many, if not all, had been picked up.

Council Passes Salary Ordinances

Bills Fixing Salary Of Mayor, Council, And Other City Employes Passed

Final passage of ordinances fixing the salary of the mayor, city council, city controller, inspector of streets and sewers, was enacted today by City Council at their weekly session.

The bill provides for the salary of the mayor being fixed at $4,000 for the ensuing year, and of the city councilmen and city controller at $3,500.

When the general increase of city employes was recently granted, the inspector of streets and sewers was inadvertently omitted and a special ordinance was required. His wages are fixed at $165 per month in the new ordinance. A similar ordinance will be enacted for the plumbing inspector.

Gen. Giraud Sees Defeat Of Germany

Tells Of Decline Of German Might In Remarks At Dakar; Warns Of Hard Battle

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 7—"Germany is defeated," Gen. Henri Honore Giraud, high commissioner for French North and West Africa, said today in Dakar but simultaneously warned that "the fight will be hard very hard."

The statement by the French general who succeeded Admiral Jean Francois Darlan was carried by the Dakar radio and heard by CBS.

"Germany today has 2,500,000 of her men killed," Gen. Giraud declared while admitting that before 1942 he had "believed in a German victory."

"And now I am sure of the contrary," he said. "I have a very good and simple reason for being so sure of it. I was a prisoner in Germany a prisoner visited by high officers and army generals because I had the honor of being considered by them enemy number one.

"Through these contacts, I could observe closely the decline of German might."

Being loved is nice, but love without a sense of duty won't bring home the bacon or sew on buttons.

New Castle Plan For Tin Can Collection To Be Nation's Model

New Castle's plan of collection of tin cans has so interested the state and national salvage authorities that the plan will be printed by the government and sent over the nation as a model it was disclosed Wednesday.

The authority for the statement was Godfrey Wetterlow, senior consultant of the war salvage effort in Washington, D. C. With Mr. Wetterlow in New Castle Wednesday was Roy Brownmiller, assistant state executive secretary of the salvage effort.

"Of the many plans I have seen" said Mr. Wetterlow, "the New Castle plan seems to be the simplest, the most workable, and the easiest of operation. It reduces what has appeared to some communities to be a complex problem to one that can be worked out with a minimum of difficulty. I am delighted with the New Castle plan and with the work of your salvage chairman, Ross D. Rosenberger and his associate Numa F. Vidal. I am taking the plan to Washington with me and it will be sent over the nation as the New Castle plan."

Commends Work Here

Here for a few hours Wednesday to inspect the salvage operations Mr. Wetterlow was flattering in his remarks concerning the other salvage drives here. "Your records in Lawrence county have been outstanding" said he. "Naturally I do not know of all the details in your collections here but the results bespeak an admirable spirit of cooperation in the war effort and we in Washington appreciate it."

"This tin can collection we now have on over the country is vital to the war effort. With 90 per cent of the supply of tin cut off by the Japanese occupation of the Malayan straits territory we are forced to rely upon what we can get from Bolivia and what we can reclaim from cans already in use.

"Every ounce of tin recovered from salvaged tin cans goes directly into the war effort. None of it will be used for unnecessary work, none of it will be used for work that is not 100 per cent war work. Hence every time you turn in a can you are turning in valuable tin to be used in war work. There have been a number of the usual vacuous rumors concerning the use of the recovered tin. One rumor monger has it being used for one non essential, another has a different idea. One of the most popular rumors being spread by Fifth Columnists is that the tin will be used to coat beer cans. A moment's thought will give you the answer to that one. Have you seen any canned beer on the market in months? You haven't, because it isn't being turned out.

"With your background of achievement in salvage work here, there is little that any one can add to your plan. We feel that New Castle and Lawrence County are alive to the problem of salvage for your past records indicate that. In the tin can salvage I can only hope that your people here will continue their fine work and turn in another national record collection."

Tin can salvage in this county is in full bloom now. The can will be collected by children of school age and the schools used as collected points. The goal sought here is one pound of tin ans per person, per month for Lawrence county. This means fifty tons of cans per month.

Crushing Attack Must Be Made Upon Japan

—FORMER AMBASSADOR GREW

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 7.—Japan cannot be beaten by a war of attrition in which it will constantly "grow stronger," former Ambassador Joseph C. Drew insisted today, warning that only a crushing "positive attack" will defeat the Nipponese.

"Our enemies are fighting for time," the diplomat declared, "merely stopping the Japanese will not defeat them. The warfare of attrition cannot be decisive when the enemy has all the elements of autoarchy. We cannot beat the Japanese by a deadlock in which they get stronger.

"We must defeat them by positive attack—an attack which must be written by our own efforts into the inevitable future history of the world. There is no short cut to this victory."

The ambassador cautioned that Americans were indulging in wishful thinking if they believed that following the defeat of Hitler "a simple little war" would mark the end of the Japanese Empire.

"If we think we have a major victory when we have succeeded in stopping the Japanese, we are helping Japan. If we think that the defeat of Hitler will be followed by a simple little war in which Japan can be destroyed, almost as an afterthought, we are aiding Japan's psychological strategy."

Kaiser Planning Peacetime Projects

War-Time Wizard Shipbuilder Has Practical Views On Reconstruction

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—America's war-time wizard shipbuilder, Henry J. Kaiser, has peace-time plans and they concern more than mere shipbuilding.

This was disclosed today when the Merlin of modern industry revealed that despite his prodigous activities for the war effort he has time enough to plan for post-war reconstruction.

"No matter how much talking we do," he declared, "the only way we can have prosperity after the war is by making employment and that is the job of private industry. The main reason I'm in New York now is to get some of my own projects planned."

The "projects," he intimated run the camut from building ships and planes to construction of highways, hospitals—and automobiles.

"For one thing, the country needs a lighter, cheaper automobile," Kaiser said. "An auto at least half as light in weight as anything on the road now. The price couldn't be cut in half but it could be cut way down. And if the regular auto manufacturers don't get ready to make such a car, somebody else will."

Pointing out that post-war America will have 2,000,000 trained flyers and as many seamen, Kaiser raised the question "What are we going to do with them?"

Nazis Lose Twice As Many Planes

Plane Casualties In North Africa Double Those Of American Forces

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7—Secretary of War Stimson said today that the Germans in North Africa to date have lost about twice the number of planes lost by American forces and enemy shipping has been hit hard by Allied air attacks.

"Our air attacks on harbors and installations in Tunisia have paid big dividends," Stimson told a press conference.

In a review of the war, Stimson said that the Allied outlook on all fronts is "favorable" but "the situations does not justify optimism."

"We would do well not to underestime the offensive strength of the Germans and Japanese," he said. The war secretary said that Axis harbor facilities have been reduced by Allied air raids and "battle losses of German planes is about double the Americans'."

Friends were sorry to hear of the death of O. S. Minor, which occurred on Thursday evening at his home at Mercer. His funeral was conducted from his son, Theodore's home, at Plaingrove on Monday. He was a resident of Plaingrove until last March.

AROUND CITY HALL

Mayor Charles B. Mayne was nursing a few sore spots on his back and elbows today, the result of a fall on the slippery pavement last evening. The mayor had a nasty fall, alighting on his back and elbows, but fortunately did not sustain any broken bones.

Two old offenders were before Mayor Mayne Thursday morning, and were given solemn warning by the mayor that with times the way they are at present, and with every man needed in industry, he would not tolerate their practices. Thomas Shoaff, charged with panhandling, and Andy Quinn, with drunkeness were given ten days in the county jail, with the promise that their next appearance would result in a little trip down the river for five months and 29 days.

Council will have its first hearing on the proposed change of restrictions in the city zoning ordinance Friday morning at 10 o'clock in the city council chambers, but little interest is expected.

The main hearing on the proposal to broaden present zoning regulations to permit construction of additional dwelling units because of the war emergency will take place on Monday morning.

. . . and how's YOUR sense of balance?

• It looks like a carnival concession or an inventor's nightmare. But it's simply a balancing chair, used to test the equilibrium of Army Air Corps candidates.

• Only a relatively few hand-picked Americans will ever try the balancing chair — but every last one of us is having our sense of balance tested under the mad whirl of war. It's a test of our ability to do our daily job, buy bonds, pay taxes, donate blood, spot planes, serve in Civilian Defense— and still keep an even keel. It's a test of individuals — and institutions — and industries.

• We're rather proud of the way our industry — the electric power companies under business management — has met its greatest test. In the face of shortages in many fields, power production has been stepped up to take care of all war plants and all essential civilian needs!

• Service is still good, rates still low. The average American home still gets twice as much electricity for its money as it did about 15 years ago—in spite of climbing costs and zooming taxes. Last year, the electric companies under business management produced ⅞ of all America's electric power and paid $620,000,000 in taxes.

• These are the accomplishments of experienced men and well-balanced management under public regulation — the system that made America great.

HIJACKS TRUCKLOAD OF MEAT IN WEST

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 7.—The west's first big-time meat hijacking was recorded today as police searched for an unidentified man who drove off with a truck containing 6000 pounds of assorted cuts and chops.

Dressed in customary packing house clothing, the hijacker casually entered a parking lot of the Cudahy Packing Co., boarded the meat-laden truck and drove away, witnesses said.

Plant officials valued the cargo at $2000 and the truck at $3000.

Your Federal Income Tax

No. 4
PERSONAL EXEMPTION

Eery individual is allowed a credit against his net income which varies with his domestic status, that is, whether he is (a) a single person, (b) a married person living with husband or wife, or (c) a head of family. This cretdit is known as personal exemption, and is shown on line 21 of the return Form 1040. The amount of the personal exemption also varies depending upon the period during which the taxpayer occupied the particular exemption status.

The personal exemption for a single person is $500 for the year; for a married person living with husband or wife, $1,200; and for a "head of family," $1,200. (Personal exemption as head of a family has no effect on liability to file a return.) For Federal income tax purposes, widows, widowers, divorcees, and married persons separated by mutual consent, as well as persons who have never been married, are classed as single persons.

A head of family is defined as "an individual who actually supports and maintains in one household one or more individuals who are closely connected with him by blood relationship, relationship by marriage or by adoption, and whose right to exercise family control and provide for these dependent individuals is based upon some moral or legal obligation." A single person, or a married person not living with husband or wife, may, therefore, enjoy a head of family exemption under certain conditions.

Taxpayers using a Simplified Return (which is permitted if the gross income for the year is $3,000 or less and derived solely from earnings from employment and or from dividends, interest, and annuities) obtain personal exemption based on their status as of July 1 of the year. Thus, a taxpayer married and living with husband or wife on July 1 is entitled to $1,200 personal exemption on Form 1040A; if he were a widower on July 1, his exemption would be $500, irrespective of the date on which he became a widower. The amount of the exemption is not deductible from the income but is reflected in the amount of tax shown in the table on the reverse side of the form.

Taxpayers using return Form 1040 obtain personal exemption proportionate with the number of months during which the particular status is held. Thus, for a person who married on July 1 (who was not a head of family prior to his marriage), the personal exemption would be $850 ($250 for the six months as a single man, plus $600 for the six months as a married man). In this example it is assumed that the wife has no income.

Married persons may, however, file joint returns, even though one has no income, and by filing a joint return a couple married during the year may obtain an exemption amounting to the exemption to which they would be entitled for the period of married status, plus the amount of their individual exemptions prior to their marriage. In the example given the total exemption in a joint return would be $1,100 ($250 for each spouse for six months plus $600 for six months married status).

If a husband and wife living together both have income and file separate returns on Form 1040, the personal exemption applicable to a married person may be taken in the return of either or divided between them in any way as they may agree, but the total personal exemption taken in the two separate returns may not exceed $1,200.

Clarification Of Gas Order Being Sought

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 7—Western Pennsylvania police officials today awaited clarification of the office of Price Administration's ban on pleasure driving before attempting to enforce the curtailment order.

Pittsburgh Superintendent of Police Harvey Scott declared that the police here "will do our best," but added that he believed it would be a tremendously difficult task to single out motorists who are driving "for fun."

Walter R. Cartwright, district manager of the OPA with authority in 16 western counties, said he has requested the co-operation of all municipal officers in western Pennsylvania communities in enforcing the ban.

"Enforcement officers were asked to check the use of automobiles parked near amusement places or those possibly being driven at the time for pleasure and make reports to local rationing boards," Cartwright said.

He added that the owner's name, license number, and the type of ration sticker should be reported in cases of violation.

The bureau of Indian affairs states that the wearing of a feather by an Indian means bravery, and there are three grades or degrees of bravery, which are denoted by the feather's position.

Snips Red Tape With Bureaucratic Shears

(International News Service)

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 7.—An Oregon farmer who devised his own system of bureaucracy to cut governmental red tape, today had a pair of rubber boots to show for his efforts.

He applied to his ration board for permission to buy the boots because he had to cross a stream to reach his stock. He was told he was ineligible. If he wanted to keep dry, the ration board suggested, he had better build a bridge.

The farmer followed the suggestion, then informed the board that his feet were getting wet on the job and he needed boots to put up the span.

As a "bridge builder," was he eligible?

He got the boots.

PRANKSTERS BEGIN UNIQUE SENTENCE

(International News Service)

EVANSTON, Ill., Jan. 7—Two sons of prominent north side families today began "working out" a unique penalty imposed in punishment for their juvenile prank of turning in a false fire alarm.

Municipal Judge James M. Corcoran ordered the pair to memorize by June 9 250 lines in Cicero and write a 1,000-word thesis on "How silly it is to turn in false fire alarms."

The boys, shame-faced, said they pulled the alarm box "just for fun."

Estimate $200,000 Damage In Goodyear Rubber Company Fire

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 7—Damage was estimated at $200,000 today following a three-alarm blaze which swept through the Goodyear Tire & Rubber company in downtown Philadelphia, destroyed or damaged between 3000 and 4000 tires, and brought injuries to four firefighters.

More than 150 firemen, called by the alarms, were assisted by 400 other firefighters attending an election meeting nearby. The flames disrupted work on government contracts when they spread to three floors of an adjoining building housing the H. Belfield Co.

The blaze was the fourth multi-alarm fire within 48 hours and the third within that period to destroy materials needed in the war effort.

Lawrence County Farms And Farmers

By H. R. McCulloch, County Agent

KEEP OLD MACHINERY IN GOOD WORKING CONDITION

With new farm machinery scarce this year, the apparent problem is eased by the fact that Pennsylvania farmers have an average investment of $21.17 in machinery per crop acre. This high average indicates that Pennsylvania farms are better equipped than those of most states.

The chief problem of most farmers of Lawrence County, as well as in other parts of the state, is to keep their present machinery in good working condition through proper adjustment and repair. Fortunately, repair parts are to be made available, but farmers are urged to order the needed parts well in advance of the time the machines will be used.

Extension demonstrations on adjustment and repair are planned to help farmers with their machinery problems. During the year just closed, 19,128 farmers attended such demonstrations in Pennsylvania, and, as a result were able to get better service from their farm machinery and equipment. In some instances, machines which never had given satisfactory performance were put in perfect running order.

A census taken a few years ago showed that each man attending a demonstration helped, on the average, two of his neighbors with their machinery problems. Many of the farmers included in the 1942 total will serve as community leaders in farm machinery extension work this year. From the value placed on the work at the time of the survey, and and that was before the price of spare parts went up, it is figured that this one line of agricultural extension activity was worth $546,487 to the farmers of Pennsylvania in 1942.

POULTRYMEN TO MEET IN HARRISBURG, JANUARY 13-14.

Poultry and egg producers will consider ways and means of meeting the wartime goals of the industry when the Pennsylvania State Poultry Association meets in Harrisburg, January 13 and 14.

In addition to a number of poultrymen who will speak on the two-day program, three members of the Pennsylvania State College staff also will appear. H. C. Knandel, head of the department of poultry husbandry will speak on "Wartime Feeding Problems"; P. H. Margolf, assistant professor of poultry husbandry, will report on "Managing Breeding Turkeys for Better Egg Production, Fertility and Hatchability"; and Dr. R. V. Boucher, associate professor of agricultural and biological chemistry, will present "Nutritional Requirements of Turkeys."

VEGETABLE GROWERS TO CONVENE IN HARRISBURG

A full one-day program is planned for the Pennsylvania Vegetable Growers Association at its annual meeting in Harrisburg, January 13. Wartime goals, needs and methods will feature the program.

Several county agents and a number of specialists of the Pennsylvania State College will appear on the program.

W. B. Nissley, in charge of vegetable gardening extension, will speak on "Making the Best Use of Available Fertilizer"; J. O. Pepper, extension entomology specialist on "Vegetable Insects and Insecticides Under War Conditions"; R. B. Donaldson, extension agricultural economist on "New Marketing Methods"; J. M. Huffington, vegetable gardening extension specialist on "Seed Sources and Varieties"; H. S. Sloat, assistant county Agent, Lancaster, on "Wartime Management Plans"; J. D. Hutchison, county agent, Wilkes-Barre, on "Some Things We Too Often Forget in Vegetable Insect Control"; C. K. Hallowell, Philadelphia county agent, on "Philadelphia Gets High Quality Sweet Corn"; and T. H. Patton, county agent, Scranton, on "Scranton Open Air Market Does the Job."

SAVE USED CONTAINERS FOR 1943 CROP NEEDS

Fruit and vegetable growers will make a wise provision for future needs if the accumulate immediately a stockpile of second-hand wood boxes, crates, baskets, barrels and hampers for use in shipping their 1943 crops to market.

By following this procedure, growers, as well as retailers, will help relieve an expected heavy demand for new wood containers and also ease the strain on manpower and transportation during the 1943 harvest season. Greater quantities of wood containers than usual will be needed to market the larger crops that are expected as a result of anticipated increased production and to ship supplies overseas to the armed forces and to the United Nations, it is said.

Supplies of second-hand containers may be obtained from grocery stores, restaurants, second-hand dealers and similar merchants. Nearly all growers will have vacant space in their sheds and barns for storing the empty containers until the 1934 harvest season begins.

FRUIT GROWERS IN STATE MEETING JANUARY 13-14

Fruit production under wartime conditions will engage the attention of members of the Pennsylvania State Horticultural association when they meet in Harrisburg January 13 and 14.

Among the speakers and subjects on the program will be: Dr. R. D. Anthoney, of the Pennsylvania State College, on "New Methods of Soil Management in Peach Orchards Based on Recent Research Findings"; H. J. Miller, of the Arendtsville field laboratory of the college, on "Peach Disease Control Based on Recent Experimental Work"; Dr. R. S. Kirby, extension plant pathologist of the college, on "Apple Disease Control Methods and Plans for 1943"; H. M. Steiner, of the Arendtsville field laboratory of the college, on "Investigations on Peach Insects and Their Control"; and J. O. Pepper, entomology extension specialist of the college, on "What More Can We Do to Control Apple Insects?"

DAIRYMEN WILL MEET AT HARRISBURG JANUARY 12-13

The Pennsylvania Dairymen's association will have its annual meeting in Harrisburg January 12 and 13.

A banquet on Tuesday evening, Jan. 12, will be the opening feature of the program. At this time awards will be made to the dairy herd improvement association and the various breed associations also will make awards to outstanding producers.

On Wednesday morning Dr. G. W. Hedlund, head of the department of agricultural economics at the Pennsylvania State college, will give what has become a traditional part of the association program when he presents "The 1943 Pennsylvania Dairy Outlook".

The seeds were planted in all 48 states to determine where the plant would thrive best. Dr. John McGavack, U. S. Rubber company scientist, said the plants had done "very well" in New Jersey.

'Little Brown Jug' Brings USO $75.05

Someone set a little brown jug on the counter in DiLullo's restaurant, in Hillsville, and beside it placed a note explaining that all pennies dropped in would go to the benefit of the United Service Organization locally. That was several weeks ago.

Yesterday the jug, weighing 44 pounds, was brought to a bank here, broken open and its copper coins counted—they totaled $75.05, according to Howard M. Burr, USO treasurer here.

YOUR HOUSE AND THE WAR: Salvage

Of all the nations on earth, we Americans must admit to habits of wastefulness known in no other country.

We have lived so long in the midst of plenty that we have lost the art of utilizing everything of value. We throw out usable foodstuffs, metal, paper, fabrics . . . just because we haven't had to bother to find uses for them.

And now we find ourselves at a great disadvantage. We have stern lessons to learn. We must salvage, reclaim, re-use . . . every little item we live with. Everything has value today. We must find it . . . and use it to strengthen our war effort.

On the home front such economies are especially important. Every housewife can devise ways of turning things to use that she has never had to think about before.

But remember this: in order to get long use out of the things you buy, you must buy them carefully in the first place. Nobody can afford to buy shoddy things: they not only won't wear, but they don't lend themselves to repairing and reusing.

The close scrutiny, the rigid testing, which all Penney merchandise goes through, is your assurance of good value . . . an assurance you MUST have in everything you buy today.

Quarries Have Biggest Boom

Limestone Industry, One Of County's Biggest, Aiding War Effort

OUTPUT EXCEEDS WORLD WAR RATE

According to the Wall Street Journal, Lawrence county's limestone quarries, one of its biggest industries, are enjoying the greatest boom in their history, and are yielding more than a half million tons of limestone a month, to help boost the nation's steel tonnage to its highest level as well as to supply other vital war necessities. The current output is almost four times that yielded during World War One days.

The great open pit mines in the Hillsville and Bessemer area are among the greatest in the world, and their biggest customer is the steel industry which consumes from 75 to 80 per cent of its output.

Limestone is used as a flux in open hearths and blast furnaces, collecting much of the impurities from the molten iron and steel, and is thrown out as slag. About a quarter of a ton of limestone is required for each ton of iron ore and the Western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio district have most of the furnaces in the country.

District steel mills also use lime, which is produced from burned limestone, for pig and ingot molds to keep the iron or steel from sticking, most of which is produced in the local district.

Among the quarries in the Hillsville section are: Pittsburgh Limestone Co., Lake Erie Limestone Co., Carbon Limestone Co., Bessemer Limestone and Cement Co., New Castle Lime and Stone Co. and Interstate Construction Co.

TUBERCULOSIS

Guns kill thousands, Tuberculosis kills millions.

War always causes an increase in the number of tuberculosis cases It always causes a high death rate from tuberculosis too.

There are more people dying from tuberculosis this year than were killed in World War 1.

It is an insidious disease. It sneaks upon you when you least expect it. It peps you up a little too. It bluffs you into saying that you are all right.

The only way to do away with this scourge is to search out every case and treat it properly.

Tuberculosis germs are like other seeds. They grow where they are planted. You cannot have a field of corn or of weeds unless you have the seed.

All new cases of tuberculosis come from another case.

When a person is found to have tuberculosis, the health department immedaitely searches for the source.

Unusual tiredness during the day should excite suspicion of infection. Loss of weight and cough are later symptoms.

If you want to keep fit, have your doctor look you over twice a year.

To radio singers: If people are tired of hearing you sing a familiar song, they get tireder when you swing it.

PROPERTY SALES

Several pieces of property owned by the county commissioners were sold in court Wednesday morning. The sale of property by the commissioners in the past year is an indication of the times. People have more money and many properties that were sold for taxes have been bought back.

Now and then a property is sold for less than the taxes and penalties against it but there is usually a good reason. County Solicitor William McElwee has seen to it that no property was "given away". Where a property goes for less than the taxes the reason is usually that it isn't worth much more and will cost a lot of money to repair. Once sold the property goes back upon the taxable list and the county, city, school boards and other bodies get the benefit.

HERE IT IS GIRLS

This paragraph is being written under duress, threatens if you please. The girls of the county commissioners' office have threatened drastic action unless we say something about David J. Forrest, a former accountant in the office who is now in service.

So here it is. Private Forrest has just completed a course of training at the air base in Lincoln, Nebraska, and has been assigned to Santa Monica, Cal. A picture of him came into the court house Wednesday and the girls went ga-ga over it. With the picture was a diploma showing his graduation from the air base. He is the son of Jury Commissioner and Mrs. George J. Forrest.

Bupt it won't help any to tell St. Peter: "Well, everybody else was doing it."

FALSE TEETH

That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wabbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug store.

See Little Chance Of Reduction In State Taxes

Governor-Elect Remains Silent

Governor James Asserts In Estimate That $50,000,000 Cut Is Possible

MANY REVENUES ARE HIT BY WAR

By JOHN PAGET
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

HARRISBURG, Jan. 7—Evidence began piling up today indicating that there would be no substantial reduction of taxes by the legislature after it reconvenes January 13 to receive the administration program of Governor-elect Edward Martin.

Despite outgoing Gov. Arthur H. James' estimate that taxes could be slashed more than $50,000,000, Martin has refused to comment on the governor's statement. As revenues are falling because of the war, it was not considered feasible for tax experts to forecast accurately the state's financial outlook far enough in advance to provide a sound basis from which to start revision.

Revenue Situation

The serious condition of the commonwealth's revenues was reflected in Martin's disclosure that the Earle-James emergency taxes would perhaps be re-enacted by the 1943 legislature. They were placed on the statute books in 1935 to provide funds for relief.

"It's a question whether they should expire or have to be reenacted," Martin said. They automatically expire May 31 unless extended.

Legislative leaders have hinted, however, that a small tax reduction might be affected by discontinuance or reduction of some of the emergency taxes, especially those on liquor, cigarettes and gasoline.

Overall Effect

The overall effect of a $50,000,000 reduction would hardly be noticed if the entire tax structure were revised. Elimination of the liquor levy would save taxpayers about $17,000,000, abolition of the two-cents-a-pack tax on cigarettes would eliminate approximately $24,000,000 in state revenues, and discontinuance of the gasoline levy would add another $31,000,000.

Secretary of Banking John C. Bell, Jr., lieutenant governor-elect, who will take office with Martin on January 19, has surveyed the state's financial picture and predicted that there would be approximately a $58,000,000 drop in the state's income during the next two years.

Martin said that the reduction could be offset by a retrenchment of departmental expenditures during his administration.

Bell told the republican state executive committee recently that the following losses could be expected to develop by the end of May 1945:

$25,000,000 in corporate net income; $3,000,000 in capital stock levy; $4,000,000 in the foreign franchise tax; $14,000,000 in the gasoline tax; $6,000,000 in profits from the state liquor stores; $2,000,000 in the 10 percent relief tax on liquor; $1,000,000 in the cigarette tax; $1,300,000 in penalties and interest on contest cases; $1,000,000 in institutional reimbursement; and $1,600,000 in miscellaneous revenues.

Congressman Asks FCC Investigation

Charges Federal Communications Commission With Operating National 'Gestapo'

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 — Rep. Gene Cox (D) Ga., introduced on Wednesday a resolution for a special house investigation of the federal communications commission, charging the FCC with operating a "Gestapo" over the nation's communications.

Cox in a statement, said:

"The story of the operations of the commission under the chairmanship of James Fly will prove shocking. It has almost completely established terroristic control of all media of communications.

"It maintains a gestapo the equal of which has never been seen in free government and has developed the smear business into a fine art. Of all abuse of power by bureaucrats nothing approaches the record of this commission."

ASK FARMERS TO ESTIMATE LABOR NEEDS IN ADVANCE

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Jan 7—If Pennsylvania farmers will estimate their labor needs in advance, no crops need spoil next season for lack of workers, Truman Thompson, Pennsylvania farm placement director predicted today.

With labor needs estimated in advance, the United States employment service can recruit migratory labor, boy scouts, school children and women to help the farmers, the war manpower official said.

Ask City Police To Cooperate In Gas Violations

District Manager Cartwright Of OPA Urges Local Police To Assist

In a message to Acting Chief of Police Ralph A. Criswell, District Manager Walter R. Cartwright, of the Pittsburgh District Office of the OPA today requested the cooperation of the local police department in seeing that new regulations laid down curtailing gasoline consumption are adhered to.

The New Castle police will cooperate in this effort, Criswell stated.

The text of Mr. Cartwright's message follows:

"OPA has ordered all pleasure driving stopped effective noon, January 7, in 17 eastern states, where critical fuel oil shortage necessitates sharp curtailment in gasoline shipment. We urgently request your cooperation in asking the citizens of your community for their patriotic cooperation in this war emergency. To obtain the compliance with these regulations, which will be in all newspapers today, the full cooperation of your enforcement organization is urgently requested. All enforcement officers are urged to lend their aid in reporting violations to local rationing boards. Method of reporting will be suggested in message to be made public today through newspapers. Please send such reports to local rationing board."

Pineapples May Move From Hawaii

Costa Rica Considered For Developing Industry There; War Interferes in Hawaii

By KINGSBURY SMITH
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7—Wartime defense measures today are understood to be interfering to such an extent with the cultivation of pineapples in Hawaii that the Hawaiian pineapple company is considering the development of a new industry in Cost Rica.

Don Luis Fernandez, Costa Rican minister in Washington, disclosed that Henry White, President of the Hawaiian Pineapple Co., recently visited his country to investigate the possibilities of large-scale cultivation there.

"We are hopeful that plans for development of the pineapple industry in Costa Rica by Mr. White's company will materialize," the minister said.

"We now have about 300 acres under cultivation, and the Hawaiian company is considering the development of 5,000 acres."

The minister also said new plantations can be developed in Costa Rica within nine months of planting.

Requisitioning of land for defense purposes is understood to have interfered considerably with the pineapple plantations in Hawaii. Development of the industry in Costa Rica also would overcome the shipping problem that is involved in the marketing in this country of the Hawaiian product. Costa Rican pineapples could be shipped by truck via the new overland highways.

Pittsburgh Workers Shot, One Fatally

Alleged Shooting By Unidentified Negro Seriously Wounds Second Man

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 7.—An unidentified negro allegedly shot two war workers in Pittsburgh early today, killing one and seriously wounding the other.

John B. Jones, 36, was shot through the heart, nip and hand and died shortly after the shooting. The other man, Whitney A. Rodrigues, 42, was taken to a city hospital with gun shot wounds of the right leg and left arm. Both victims are from Oklahoma City, Okla.

Rodrigues told police that he and Jones, both pipe fitters, came to Pittsburgh last Saturday to work at the Dravo Corporation shipyards. He said that last night they were accosted by a negro who offered to get them a drink.

Following the man, Rodrigues said, they were led to the hill district where the negro suddenly opened fire, killing Jones. The wounded man gave police a description of the assailant.

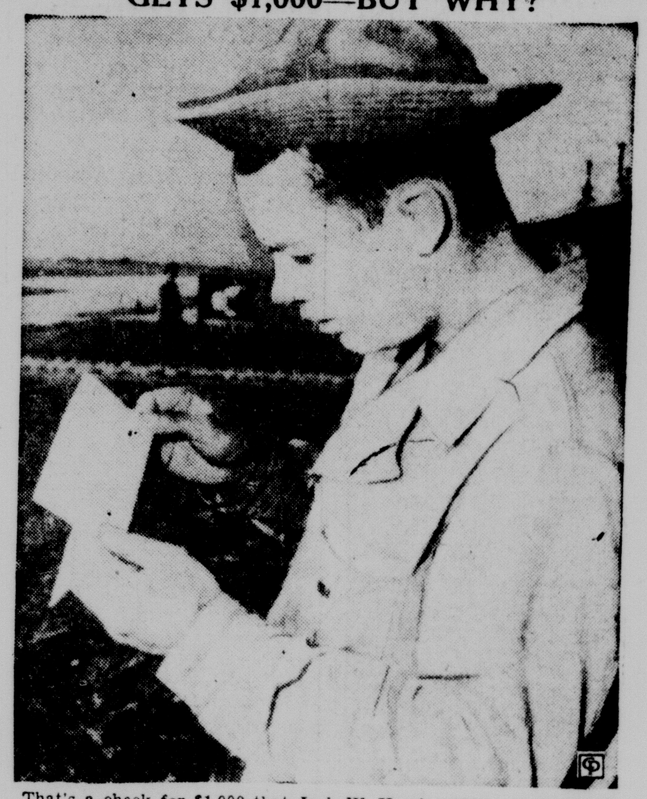
GETS $1,000—BUT WHY?



That's a check for $1,000 that Jack W. Harris, soldier at Randolph field, Texas, is holding. He is somewhat bewildered, however, because the valuable piece of paper came to him from a reputable south Texas oil company of which he had never heard and with which he never had had any dealings. His superior officer is investigating. (Central Press Phonephoto)

Nazis Taken Prisoner in Northwest Stalingrad

This photo, flashed by radio from Moscow to New York, shows a group of Nazis taken prisoner northwest of Stalingrad. Southwest of Stalingrad, General Zhukov has now joined two fronts in one offensive. Two full regiments, six thousand men, pick of Hitler's fighting forces, were thrown into one sector. The Russians attacked at once and, smashing them, drove forward for new gains. In Stalingrad, the Russians sent night combat forces into German lines, where they stormed and attacked eighteen block houses.

Navy's New 'Flying Ambulance'

An "injured" flier is given speedy treatment by one of the flying doctors of the Corpus Christi, Tex., Naval Air Station, before being taken to the base hospital in one of the Navy's "Flying Ambulances." The speedy, small, specially equipped planes are able to land and take off in limited spaces. The "injured flier" is placed in an ambulance at the field (top) after being removed from the plane. The doctor treats the flier (bottom) as he is placed in the plane. This is an official U. S. Navy photo. (Central Press)

Mrs. Mary Hansley, above, of Columbus, O., was picked a typical "heroine of the home front" by a committee which included Film Actress Greer Garson and Mrs. John Bricker, wife of Ohio's governor. Axis Planes Left Behind by Fleeing Nazis

When General Montgomery's Eighth Army marched into Derna, in Libya, they found that the Axis forces under Rommel had fled. At the air field, just outside the town, the British found these wrecked Nazi planes. Most of the bombers and fighters had been damaged by R.A.F. bombings and strafings. Those that had escaped were hastily demolished by the retreating Germans. (Central Press)

He Thought It Was Lunchtime

This tiny humming bird, wings beating sixty strokes per second, was stopped in action by a speedray camera shooting at 1/30,000 of a second, as it hovered in mid-air over a tiny rubber doll. The little bird, one of about 500 species housed at the Bronx Zoo, New York City, placed his bill tentatively in the doll's mouth hoping that it would contain food. The birds are fed a mixture of sweetened condensed milk, honey, baby food and water. (Central Press)

JUNGLE SNAKES? HAPLESS JAPS WISH THEY WERE!

What looks like a colony of jungle snakes draped over tree limbs in the New Guinea jungle are in reality rows of ammunition belts placed in readiness for an American attack on a Japanese position in the Buna area. This picture was taken in a native village as the Buna campaign got underway.

Held in Slaying

High school freshman Donald Roger, 14, of San Bernardino, Cal., according to police, says he fired 15 rifle bullets into the body of his father, Matthew J. Roger, 56, civilian army employe. Explaining the reason for the slaying, he said, "I had seen him beat her for years, it seemed. Today was too much. I grabbed my rifle and shot him."

State Calls For Increased Can Collections Now

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Jan. 7.—With rationing of canned goods a month away, the state defense council today called for increased tin can collections and specified quotas for the state's 76 counties in an effort to salvage 9,900 tons for war production purposes.

Disclosing that "something like 25,000,000 cans of food are purchased by housewives of Pennsylvania every week," Warren R. Roberts, state salvage chairman, said:

"We are losing too much tin and too much steel. If we are to continue to be able to purchase food in tin cans, we should be willing to prepare the cans for detinning purposes and to see that they are salvaged for the war effort."

Roberts asserted that the collection of prepared tin cans has been made mandatory in a War Production Board order for all cities over 25,000 population.

The council based its quotas on eight tin cans a week from each home. Colley L. Baker, executive secretary of the salvage committee, mailed the quotas to all county and local salvage committees today.

Daily Dozen

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

Winged creatures were meant to fly—not mankind.

In flight, man is projected into an unatural environment.

All persons do not have the aptitude for military aviation.

Sixty per cent of cadets are eventually found inept as fliers.

An aviator requires certain physical and mental capacities.

His job calls for agile exercises of his intellect.

He must have unfailing will power and control of emotions.

His muscular control and reflexes must be highly developed.

Each applicant must first have a physical examination.

A neuropsychiatric test shows mental and nervous failings.

Military aviators must be well nigh perfect in all capacities.

Such perfection keeps 'em flying!

The Golden Text

Nicodemus' visit to Jesus

"For God so loved the world, that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth on Him should not perish, but have eternal life."—John 3:10.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Jan. 10 is John 3:1-16, the Golden Text being John 3:16, "For God so loved the world, that He gave His only Begotten Son, that whosoever believeth on Him should not perish, but have eternal life.")

THE PHARISEES, of course you remember, were usually the implacable enemies of Jesus and His followers. They were always trying to trap Him so He would say something which would give them an excuse to seize and imprison Him, and finally bring about His death.

Today's lesson tells us of one man, a Pharisee and ruler of the Jews, who actually came to Jesus to be instructed and remained a friend of His through life, although this one story about him is almost the only time we hear directly of him.

His name was Nicodemus. St. John describes him thus: "There was a man of the Pharisees named Nicodemus, a ruler of the Jews." He was a highly educated man, probably wealthy and distinguished. He "came to Jesus by night," we are told—probably because that was his time of leisure, possibly because he did not want to be seen visiting so apparently humble a person as Jesus was considered.

Calls Him Rabbi

Nicodemus did not consider Jesus a lowly person, for he addressed Him most respectfully as "Rabbi," and said, "We know thou art a teacher come from God; for no man can do these miracles that Thou doest, except God be with Him."

Only one miracle had been performed, as far as we have any account, the turning of the water into wine at the wedding at Cana. However, Nicodemus had evidently heard of others.

Jesus' answer surprised and startled Nicodemus. He said, "Verily, I say unto thee, except a man be born again, he cannot se the kingdom of God."

Nicodemus naturally replied, "How can a man be born when he is old?" And Jesus then explained that the rebirth was of "the water and of the spirit."

"That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the spirit is spirit." The "water" probably refers to baptism.

"Marvel not that I said unto thee, Ye must be born again. The wind bloweth where it listeth, and thou hearest the sound thereof, but canst not tell whence it cometh, and whither it goeth; so is every one that is born of the spirit."

We know the wind blows because we feel it and see the effects of it. So we see the effects of the rebirth because we observe how much more spiritual is the person who has experienced this change and what an aleration it has made in his or her life.

Nicodemus Is Astonished

Nicodemus was astonished and exclaimed, "How can these things be?" And Jesus answered, "Art thou a master of Israel, and knowest not these things? And no man hath ascended up to heaven, but he that came down from heaven, even the Son of man which is in heaven.

"And as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so must the Son of man be lifted up."

This incident occurred during the wanderings of the Hebrews in the wilderness. They had spoken against God and against Moses, wailing and asking why they had been brought out of Egypt to die in the wilderness.

The Lord grew angry and sent fiery serpents which bit the people and many died. They repented then and told Moses they had sinned. So the Lord told Moses to make a serpent and put it on a pole and hold it up so that all might see it. Every one that looked at the brass serpent which was held on high, recovered from his wounds.

In place of the serpent held aloft by Moses, God had now sent His Son that those who looked on Him, took Him for their Saviour and believed on Him, would be born again and saved.

"For God so loved the world, that He gave His only Begotten Son, that whosoever believeth on Him should not perish, but have everlasting life."

'Black Market' For Meat Is Charged

Intensive Investigation Is Under Way By OPA In Large Cities

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—Existence of a "black market" for meat conducted openly by wholesale and retail butchers was disclosed today with initiation by local and regional OPA officials of an intensive investigation into price ceiling violations.

Not only in New York City, but elsewhere in the state, in New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware and the District of Columbia, the OPA said, wholesalers are demanding premiums from dealers to assure meat deliveries and these are being passed on to consumers in the form of higher prices.

Payment of the premiums by retailers are camouflaged, Irving C. Rutter, regional OPA attorney pointed out. In some instances, dealers are invoiced and pay for more meat than they receive while in others they pay for higher grade meats than delivered. Only through cooperation of the retailers in reporting such violations to their local OPA office can the practice be halted, Rutter said.

Meanwhile, retailers pointed out that establishment of ceilings on meat was useless unless similar ceilings were set on livestock. Wholesalers are forced to pay higher prices for meat on the hoof, they say, have little choice but to pass the increase on to the retailer.

Halsey Says Next Jap Move Retreat

U. S. Commander In Solomons Denies Seeming Lull In South Pacific War

(International News Service)

AUCKLAND, N. Z., Jan. 7—Probably the next move of the Japanese will be one of retreat and they will "keep retreating," Admiral William F. Halsey, U. S. commander in the Solomons, said Wednesday while denying there was a seeming lull in this theatre of war.

"There is only one answer," the tough American naval officer said. "Probably the next Jap move will be to retreat and keep retreating. The fullest use has been made of time since the United States advance began."

Admiral Halsey said he thought that the Japanese were short of ships but pointed out that you can never have enough ships anywhere in a war.

"I think we are probably in that fix but whether you have something or haven't, you keep on with what you have," he said. "When the other fellow is hurt more than you are, and the Japs definitely are hurt more than we, you keep on and get him."

Splendid Cough Syrup Easily Mixed at Home

It's So Easy! Makes a Big Saving. No Cooking.

To get quick and satisfying relief from coughs due to colds, mix this recipe in your own kitchen. Once tried you'll never be without it, and it's so simple and easy.

First, make a syrup by stirring 2 cups granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. A child could do it. No cooking needed. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.

Then get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. This is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, known for its effect on throat and bronchial membranes.

Put the Pinex into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. Thus you make a full pint of really splendid medicine and you get about four times as much for your money. It never spoils, and children love its pleasant taste.

And for quick, blessed relief, it is amazing. You can feel it take hold in a way that means business. It loosens phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and eases the soreness. Thus it makes breathing easy, and lets you get restful sleep. Just try it, and if not pleased, your money will be refunded.

'CANES ARE DEFIANT AS WPIAL CAGE RACE OPENER DRAWS NEAR

Locals Clash With Aliquippa In Section III Tilt Here Friday

PRELIM CONTEST WILL BEGIN AT 7

A defiant New Castle high basketball ring, labeled to keep company with the Phillies, Friday night begins defending the Section III WPIAL crown captured last season.

The 'Canes meet an eager quintet representing Aliquippa high, the school from which the locals won the Class AA WPIAL football prize last Turkey Day, on George Washington floor.

Prelim At 7

In the preliminary, the Ne-Ca-Hi Reserves tie into a team representing the Vocational Shop school (Ben Franklin) at 7. The main tussle will follow.

Bridenbaugh's pupils tag onto the boards a dismal pre-season mark of four losses and only one success, Sharon, Farrell, Butler and the Alumni spanked the 'Canes while Youngstown East absorbed the setback.

With the chips landing on the line tomorrow, New Castle figures to be a different ball club, you can be sure of that. WPIAL competition changes aspects; you can bet on that.

As the opener draws near, the locals are showing improvement in workouts. Billy Andrews, the 15-year-old beaut, has fully recovered from an illness which marred his play in recent settos.

"Zub" At Guard

Eddie Jacobs, slow getting started, is flashing eye-catching form. John Zubkowsky, whose play at center has not measured up to par, may function from a guard post. Harvey Burris, now the class of the five, is docketed to operate at center. Tony Razzano will hold down the other sentinel rail.

Aliquippa comes here in mid-season shape due to "rush" barnstorming tour, having faced eight stiff opponents. The Nate Lippe-coached flock conquered Freedom, East Liverpool, Geneva College reserves, Monaca and St. Veronica but lost to Duquesne high and North Catholic.

Pittsburgh Casting Eyes At Zanesville, Dayton And Columbus

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 7—Like other major league cities, Pittsburgh speculated today on the training site for the 1943 edition of its National league entry.

Ruled out of San Bernardino, Cal., and Hot Springs, Ark., the Pirates were casting roving eyes at Zanesville, Dayton and Columbus, O., while other reports had it that the base would be the Pennsylvania State college, nesting in the Nittany mountains.

Pirate President William Benswanger refused to comment on the selection of the conditioning site except to say that he had received an invitation from Tom V. Moorhead, mayor of Zanesville, to pitch camp there.

Cleveland—Officials of the Cleveland Indians baseball club were to search Ohio today for a possible training site for the tribesmen.

Marietta, O., is among the first on the list of Ohio cities because it has little war industry and hotel and dining facilities are adequate.

War Commission Regards Baseball As Not Essential

Journal And American Says Ruling Made In Washington Wednesday

PRIORITY INDUSTRIES MAY WHITTLE ROSTERS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 7—Big league baseball is not regarded as an essential activity by the war manpower commission, the New York Journal & American said it was ruled in Washington today, adding that ball clubs may lose some players to priority industries.

"The usefulness of the sport is a separate question from the 'essentiality' of individuals who play it," the newspaper quoted manpower Commissioner Paul McNutt as saying. "Thus it may well be that it is desirable that Blankville have a ball team.

"But Blankville may lose certain members of that team to higher priority industries—even members that might be 'essential to winning the pennant. The pennant is not 'essential'."

However, no over-all policy with regard to the ball player or professional athlete as such has been adopted by the commission, or is contemplated. Local conditions and problems, different from community to community, and in the case of farm labor from region, and crop to crop, will govern the commission's policies, said the Journal & American.

Transfer Preferable

The newspaper added:

But as an expression of the official viewpoint it was said 'today that in those communities where war workers are urgently needed it will be the policy of the local United States employment service officials to exercise every persuasion to induce workers in non-essential activities to transfer to essential war work.

"Under this interpretation it seems highly likely that many farm-owning, or farm-working ball players will be requested to continue their farm operations in preference to baseball.

"Those not engaged in what the commission describes as a 'critical area,' a region where an acute war labor shortage exists, will probably be allowed to resume their baseball careers this season, but it will be the policy of the local war manpower representatives to keep them in their jobs until such time as they can be replaced without aggravating shortage conditions."

CAUSED FAMILY TEMPEST IN TEAPOT

Hollywood studio pictures like the one above caused the slight difference of opinion between Georgia university's football ace, Frankie Sinkwich, and his wife over the question of a movie career. Mrs. Sinkwich is pictured, right above, with Comedian Lou Costello and Dot Weatherly, Mrs. Sinkwich's sister, who also was tested by the studio. The girls' somewhat abbreviated costumes at first caused the athlete to ban a future in the movies, but later he relented and said Mrs. Sinkwich might return with him to Hollywood for screen appearances.

Routs Tifereth Israel By 69-26 Margin; Second U. P. Upset

After staging an uphill battle that dates back to the start of the race, the Epworths have finally moved to the top of the New Castle Church Basketball loop.

Needing a triumph last night to grab the top rail, the Epworths humiliated the Tifereth Israel shooters under a barrage of field goals, winning by a 69-29 margin.

Dart was the big show as he rattled the rings for 10 fielders. Weaver and Nahas each hit the "fg" range six times. Solomon was the outstanding performer for the last place Israel club.

In one of the most exciting skirmishes in weeks, the First Presbyterians surprised the Second U. P., 31-30. Francis Pitzer led the trail for the losers, banging 17 points. Wilson and McGregor starred for the winners.

The Wesleys were awarded a forfeit when the First Baptists were unable to field a full team.

Sports Uncertain At Grove City High

(Special To The News)

GROVE CITY, Jan. 7—Co-operation of faculty members is making possible a continuance of winter varsity sports at the high school and college here, but each school has had cancellations and programs are continuing on a day-to-day basis.

The college has had four basketball games cancelled, and has substituted home-and-home games with Westminster for the Thiel dates.

Wherever possible, buses are being utilized for travel. A high school game here this week was played at 6:30 p. m. to meet a bus schedule.

RENO HAS ANSWER TO $64 QUESTION: WILL DIMAG QUIT?

If Divorce Granted, Joe May Quit Baseball And Join Armed Forces

MARITAL MIX-UP HAS UPSET STAR

By JACK MAHON
(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—The baseball world, probably for the first time in modern history, looked toward Reno for the solution of its latest $64 question: "Is Joe DiMaggio going tt quite baseball".

One of Joe's most intimate friends and confidential advisers who has discussed the DiMaggio marital mix-up with DiMag within the past week, told the writer he is "almost willing to bet, if the divorce action instituted by Mrs. DiMaggio is completed, Joe will quit the game and go into the service."

Our informant, who asked to remain anonymous, continued: "I've talked to him several times and know of what I speak. The boy is terribly upset over his trouble and wants very much to effect a reconciliation. The fact he is back in Reno again to see Mrs. DiMaggio and the baby proves that.

"I talked to him long distance, only last week, and though he didn't mention quitting, at that time, he made it very plain he wouldn't care much about anything if his wife divorced him."

Joe Broken Up

Our source added DiMag had discussed enlisting in the service many times but was too broken up over his family troubles to do anything about it. "If the divorce takes place I'm virtually certain Joe won't play ball this year. He doesn't even know what to think about it now. I think he'd enlist."

DiMag's friend believed that if Joe and his wife Dorothy could patch up their difference DiMag would go into spring training, wherever the Yankees decide to set up house with a new spirit and would enjoy one of his greatest years.

"He's a very sensitive guy," concluded Joe's pal, "and I know how much all this means to him and to his playing."

The possibility that DiMag might quit was first revealed in a telephone interview with the San Francisco Examiner.

Joe told the Examiner, from Reno, where he had gone for the second time in as many weeks: "Spring training won't interest me this year."

Asked if he was thinking of quitting Joe replied: "I'm not saying. Draw your own conclusions." Joe said he would be back in Frisco in a few days and would say then what he was going to do.

Pressed further as to whether he might announced his retirement for the duration at that time, Joe said: "Maybe. I'll see you later," and hung up.

Come on, cupid. Tighten up that sarong and get to work.

Sinkwich & Co. To Get Rousing Welcome Tonight

(International News Service)

ATHEN, Ga., Jan. 7.—A rousing welcome was planned for the University of Georgia's triumphant Rose Bowl party tonight when the "Bulldog Special" pulls into Athens shortly after 10 o'clock.

Virtually every University of Georgia student, as well as a great portion of Athens' citizenry, planned to be on hand to greet the Bulldogs, 9 to 0 victors over the University of California at Los Angeles in the New Year's Day gridiron classic.

A similar reception was planned for them in Atlanta, where they change trains.

Larry French Gets Commission Friday

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 7.—Larry French, 34, star National League twirler since 1929, will be sworn into the navy tomorrow as an athletic instructor.

French, who will be commissioned a lieutenant (JG), won 15 and lost 4 games for Brooklyn last season. He led the league with an earned run average of 1.82 per game.

The veteran moundsman crashed the big time in 1929 with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

High School Grid Chiefs From Nine States Meet Friday

To Discuss Ways Of Saving Equipment; Six-Man Group Meets, Too

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Jan. 7.—High school athletic executives from nine states prepared to head for Chicago to attend a two-day meeting of the National Interscholastic Football committee Friday and Saturday.

Foremost on the agenda this year were not rule changes or bitter debates on other aspects of playing the game, but the simple war-inspired question of how to make equipment last.

Although high schools and dealers were said to have fair supply of footballs on hand, it was pointed out that only a limited number of new balls can be manufactured because of priorities affecting rubber bladders, canvas linings and leather covers.

The committee is expected to discuss ways of best distributing the supply of balls, legalization of substitute materials for shoulder, trouser, headgear padding and ways of preserving uniforms now on hand.

States represented will include Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin, Kansas, Kentucky, Michigan, Missouri, South Dakota and Tennessee.

Oregon and Indiana also are to be represented at a national six-man football committee meeting.

Charles-Bivins Set For Battle Tonight

Setto Stirs Cleveland Fistic Mob; Odds Listed As Even

(International News Service)

CLEVELAND, Jan. 7.—When Cincinnati's Ezzard Charles and Cleveland's Jimmy Bivins answer the gong in tonight's lightheavyweight scrap at the arena ring—mad spectators will see a fight which experts have termed the biggest betting bout in Cleveland fight history, with the odds about even.

Reason for the heavy outlay of cash is said to be the fact that this fight is a natural, pitting two of the foremost light-heavyweights against each other, with the winner getting a crack at the "duration light-heavyweight title" in a fight with Anton Christoforidis in February.

Charles, youthful Negro sensation of last year, will spot his foe nine pounds, coming in at 166 to Bivins' 175. Early in December Ezzard decisioned Heavyweight Joe Maxim in Cleveland, his second victory over the young Italian.

The fight is the second biggest drawing card featuring Negro punchers in fight history anywhere, being outranked only by the meeting between Champion Joe Louis and John Henry Louis for the title in New York a few years ago. The gate tonight is expected to gilt various pockets to the tune of $40,000.

Bivins is to get $7,500 for this bout, while Charles will drag down $4,500.

PATRIOTIC ATHLETES

One hundred outstanding football stars of the Big Ten teams already are enlisted in the army and navy reserves.

COSTLY SPORT

Steeplechasing accounted for most of the casualties among horses racing on New York tracks the past season. Seven were so badly injured they had to be destroyed.

RACING HIT HARD; HIALEAH SUSPENDS ITS WINTER SHOW

Tropical Park Closes Down; Eastern Tracks Will Be Effected

MAJORS WILL NOT SUFFER TOO GREATLY

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—The sports world, staggered by two Sunday socks in the jaw from Washington in the last 24 hours, righted itself today and tried to estimate just what was in store for it in 1943.

The OPA ban on pleasure driving, which caused Tropical Park to close down today and Hialeah Park to suspend its scheduled 46-day meeting, before it even got under way, undoubtedly will have a serious effect on other tracks in the east, with the possible exception of New York.

Baseball, told that it was not classed as an "essential" industry by the manpower commission, was mapping plans to insure major league teams with some sort of replacements in case priority industries were forced to pluck players off the diamond and plant them in more important war jobs.

Herbert Bayard Swope, chairman of the N. Y. Racing Commission was in rare form when asked how he thought the pleasure driving ban would effect racing here.

Ban Bus Service

Swope got his breath and issued a choice communique in which (1) he advocated that wherever racing depends on use of gas or rubber it should be shut down; (2) suggested that inasmuch as racing has lived with horse-drawn vehicles for many years it could do so again; (3) that special bus service to race tracks be abolished; (4) that three local tracks are adjacent to regular transportation lines and he saw no reason to discontinue operating.

Since the OPA order applied to the eastern area only, such tracks as Bowie, Rockingham Park, Suffolk Downs, Narragansett Park, Garden State Park at Camden, N. J.; Delaware Park and Pimlico will all be effected. And many of them are liable to emulate the example of Hialeah and not even open the gates.

Baseball's immediate reaction to Manpower Commissioner Paul McNutt's quoted remarks on its "essentiality" and the status of its players was mixed. Most local officials felt the game never had any illusions about being essential and that there was nothing new in the statement. Others agreed some plans would have to be made to provide manpower for their teams if current members had to leave for defense jobs.

Won't Change Plans

Ford Frick, National league president, said: "This decision will not cause any change in our plans. We have lost players to the army and have been able to continue. If we should lose some men to defense industries I think we should be able to continue as before."

Officials of all three local baseball clubs, Brooklyn, Giants and Yankees, agreed the pleasure driving ban would not seriously affect attendance since most of the fans use ordinary transportation lines.

Basketball particularly, will be effected by the decree, especially in the hinterlands. Here in New York, Madison Square Garden will continue to do business as usual since the customers use ordinary transportation lines.

In the various nooks and whistle stops throughout the land, however, where Joe Fan must travel by auto to see the cage game if he desires to, the game will suffer.

Boxing, ice hockey and the numerous other members of the sports family are bound to suffer by the order.

If this kind of suffering will help win the war, give us more of it.

BLAME BIG EVENTS FOR RUBBER WASTE

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 7 — Citing the Rose Bowl game as an example, California's rationing chief, Paul Barksdale D'Orr, today called the attention of Washington officials to what he called the wastage of rubber caused by major sporting events.

He made no specific request, however, that these events be cancelled.

D'Orr said that a survey revealed that 30,090 automobiles were driven to the Rose Bowl last week, 8,000 more than any previous year.

"Such events are discouraging, if not disastrous," D'Orr said.

Section 20 Rivals Play Again Friday

Wampum Makes Debut Versus Mt. Jackson; Shenango At Bessemer

Section 20 rivals swing into the second round of their schedule Friday on three courts.

Of chief importance will be Wampum high's debut with Mt. Jackson high on Wampum floor.

Coach L. B. Hennon's pupils are listed among the Class B WPIAL topnotchers because of an unusually successful pre-season tour against major opposition.

Win 8 Times

With Coy Craine, colored star, zooming 179 points, Wampum won eight out of nine clashes. The conquests numbered among others, Monaca (twice), Ellwood City, Freedom and Beaver.

The Mounties lost their inaugural to New Wilmington, 40-26, succumbing only after waging a bitter struggle. In Ed. Bradley, the Jacksonites boast of one of the gems in the loop.

While Wampum tastes its first league competition, Bessemer's stout club, manned by five old heads, entertains Shenango Township. The "Cementers" routed Union Township, 40-6, Tuesday while Shenango brushed past East Brook.

New Wilmington, another first night winner, hopes to keep going at the expense of Union Township. With Cathcart and Borowicz pitching, the "Greyhounds" should roll in their second success.

East Brook faces Princeton in a non-league battle.

PHILS INVITED TO SPRING TRAIN AT HERSHEY PARK

(International News Service)

HERSHEY, Pa., Jan. 7.—An invitation to both Philadelphia major league baseball clubs to train at Hershey for the coming campaign was extended today by J. B. Sollenberger, manager of Hershey park.

Sollenberger jointed out the advantages of pre-season conditioning at Hershey, and expressed a desire to have one or both teams if they want to train there.

CHALLEDON RETIRED

Challedon has shown so poorly his owner has decided to retire him to stud.

SPORTS WORLD RAMBLINGS

Battered out in nothing flat:

This department was kept a bit on the run late yesterday as news flashed that the OPA had ruled nix on pleasure driving. Since the decree strikes smack in the puss of basketball, the current sport, callers wanted to know "what next?"

As this was being rattled off, the proclamation was quite nebulous to this observer. Until the order is simmered to my kind of English, I'm in a maze, too. The development, nevertheless, is another ache to the guys who run the sports stand.

If the local school officials (class B especially) find the travel bugaboo now more involving than the day before yesterday, you can bet your bundle that basketball will feel the axe, perhaps not county-wide, but in a few sectors.

Football here fattened Uncle Sam's kitty to the extent of $2,300 last season. Faculty Manager Ralph Gardner today disclosed that the aforementioned figures represent the kick back in taxes amassed during New Castle's seven home games.

Fidel LaBarba, former flyweight superintendent, is a clearcut example that a boxer's talent isn't limited to the ring. The former champ wrote the song "Footlight Serenade".

Now serving as a salesman for a leather firm in Philly, Jimmy Foxx, who used to be a bad guy at the plate, is seriously considering retirement from baseball. On the basis of his showing last season, Double-X is using excellent judgment.

Jack Cuddy, of UP, comes up with a bit of interesting bowling news. Since Pearl Harbor, the scribe writes, 4,000,000 additional women are rolling 'em down the alleys. All told, 17,000,000 participants paid out $1,626,000,000 in 1942 to enjoy the keglers' sport.

Touchdown Club Honors Sinkwich

Receives Walter Camp Memorial; Dove Gets Rockne Award

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—Georgia's Frankie Sinkwich now holds the Walter Camp Memorial trophy awarded him by the Touchdown club for being the outstanding All-American football player in 1942.

The Touchdown club also awarded the Knute Rockne Memorial trophy to Bob Dove, Notre Dame end, as the outstanding 1942 All-American linesman, and honored with a trophy Specialist Third Class Bruce Smith, former Minnesota player who starred at half back for the Great Lakes Naval Training Station last season.

A special scroll and a cigar store Indian was given to Assistant Coach Turk Edwards, acting for the Washington Redskins, as a salute to the new National Professional Football league champions.

The club also paid high tribute to Clark Griffith, president of the Washington Senators baseball team and said that it would launch a drive to have beer placed in baseball's Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N. Y.

The awards were made at the Touchdown club's seventh annual dinner attended by nearly 800 notables including cabinet members, supreme court justice, members of congress, high ranking officers of the armed services and other Washington officials.

Admiral Emory S. Land, chairman of the Maritime commission and president of the club said in a brief address that football must be continued through the war.

Buhl Hospital Announces 7-Day Limit To Relieve Crowded Conditions

(International News Service)

SHARON, Pa., Jan. 7—A seven-day limit had been set today on maternity cases at C. H. Buhl hospital in an effort to relieve crowded conditions.

Superintendent C. D. Jefferies stated the rule will not be changed unless the attending physician finds the condition of the new mother is too serious to remove her to her home.

The average hospital stay for mothers is 10 days.

There were 1,396 babies born in the hospital last year and 995 in 1941. Next spring a new 47-bed maternity unit will be ready for occupancy.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL

The American people will gladly give up everything that is necessary in order to help the "Boys" who are out there taking it on the chin. Right now quite a bit of talk concerns the proposed Gas Rationing that will effect each and every person in the 17 Eastern Seaboard States . . . we here probably can't see why the citizens of Ohio can obtain more gas than we can. It does seem strange that the entire Nation isn't treated alike. A good many people have really tried to conserve the gas consumption . . . some will even have gas left over when this present Rationing Period Ends. If all cars eat gas like our "cement mixer" we sure feel sorry for the owners. Our mileage is about 9 miles per gallon. So you see that won't take you very far . . . never outside the city limits. At this time no exact wording has been given concerning driving in the city to visit your friends . . . it's true that it has been stated that Theatres and Race Tracks will be watched . . . we feel certain that nothing will be done unless it is absolutely necessary. It might be difficult to believe THAT at this time but we are American Citizens . . . let's not forget that. Keeping our eyes open and staying up on our toes and letting our representatives in Washington know how we feel about things is our DUTY . . . Our DUTY to the men in the fighting forces and to the generations to come. Be A Good American First . . . then complain about little petty things.

In some sections of the United States local gas rationing boards give a "C" sticker to anyone who requests it. They pass gas out like nobody's business. That is why those who try to conduct themselves honestly wonder sometimes if it really pays . . . Of course we know that it does and our only objective right now is to do the right thing so that the War Effort will not be slowed down because we did not co-operate.

* * *

A small dog was lost Sunday nite last in the vicinity of Mill and Washington streets. The dog was a pet for a small child and of course you know what that means to a child . . . If anyone found the dog would they kindly call 1580J and ask for William Floyd. Thanks friends.

* * *

Pleasant evenings can be spent at home if you really make up your mind to do it. Reading will take up some time . . . fixing up the house and some of the odd jobs that you have been planning to do for the past five years can now be done.

Pennsylvania's War Effort Significant On All Fronts Now

By FRANK J. BURKE
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 7.—With the names of Pennsylvanians already emblazoned deeply on the scroll of honor for military and industrial exploits, the Keystone state has moved into the second year of war prepared for even greater achievement and sacrifice.

From the first whisper of Japanese planes winging furtively toward unsuspecting Pearl Harbor, men and women from "Penn's Woods" have been in the thick of action—in the military services, in the home, in the state's billion-dollar workshop.

Private Joseph L. Lockard, from Williamsport, was the first to hear and report the approach of Nipponese squadrons in Hawaii. Shortly afterwards, a Johnstown boy—the late Lieut. Boyd (Buzz) Wagner emerged as America's first ace of World War No. 2.

Pennsylvania's 28th—the famed "Iron Division" is scattered throughout the universe translating into steel and smoke and flame the proud heritage of battle that is hers. Ready to take up arms are thousands of youths steeped in her "never-say-die" traditions.

Many Armed Leaders

And native-born Keystaters lead Uncle Sam's forces all over the globe. There's General George C. Marshall, U. S. army chief of staff, from Uniontown; Wilkes-Barre's Admiral Harold R. Stark, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Naval forces in European waters.

From Emporium comes Lieut. General Joseph McNarney, deputy chief of staff, Lieut. General Henry (Hap) Arnold, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Army Air Corps, from Gladwynne, and Major General Carl Spatz, from Boyertown, chief of American Air Forces in Europe.

Last but not least and representing the epitome of modern panzer warfare is Lieut. Gen. Jacob L. Devers, from York, commander-in-chief of the armored forces.

Anna Bernatitus, from Exeter, emerged as the sole navy nurse to escape from the hell of Bataan and Corregidor. But she's only one of hundreds of Pennsylvania women serving on the field of battle in every region known to man.

Keep "Wasp" Secret

At least 50 Keystone staters came home from the sea for brief furloughs, keeping secret even from their loved ones the fact that their ship—the aircraft carrier Wasp—had been sunk by the Japanese off the Solomon Islands. Four ranking marines on Guadalcanal are Philadelphians.

A huge civilian army—600,000 strong—stands on 24-hour guard duty in every nook of the commonwealth to protect people and property. That is the civilian volunteer defense corp under Dr. A. C. Marts, president of Bucknell university.

Bigger still and vital to America—vital to democracy itself—are the platoons of war plant workers. Five million men and women comprise Pennsylvania's industrial fighters—producing ever more quickly and more efficiently every weapon from shells to battleships.

From Pittsburgh's great steel mills; from Philadelphia's vast shipyards and factories; from the anthracite region's rich black veins pour forth the grist for victory. Pennsylvania led the nation in formation of employer-worker management committees to expedite the flow of material from source to completion.

More than 150 new war production plants sprang up during the first nine months of 1942 to meet the challenge of the dictator. The keystone state's farmers kept their promise to "increase the crop" and promised better results in 1943 with an even break from man and the elements.

There's more money around the state, but a consensus would show that it's not being wasted. Treasury department officials have awarded as many "10 per cent" certificates throughout Pennsylvania as have the army and the navy bestowed "E" pennants in the Commonwealth.

Buying Bonds, Stamps

Up to December 1, Philadelphians put out $140,000,000 for war bonds and stamps—and the goal for December in the Quaker city is $13,000,000 and Philadelphia, rising living costs or not, met that figure, according to preliminary reports.

"The war has affected personally every man, woman and child in the state," says the Pennsylvania historical commission. "As at no other time in history, social, political, economic and cultural lines have merged into a solid inflexible purpose.

"With one voice all Pennsylvania chants a determined challenge and a promise: 'Win the war.' A year of transition, reaction, and preparation has ended. The year of victory is ahead."

So say Pennsylvania's 10,000,000.

Special Service At Slippery Rock

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 7.—Rev. John C. Smith will be the guest speaker at the 11 o'clock service on Sunday morning at the Slippery Rock Presbyterian church.

Rev. Smith returned to this country last fall from Japan where he was held in an internment camp for several months following the outbreak of the war, and he will tell of his experiences during the years he served as a missionary in Tokio.

The Schramms have one other child, Nancy. Mrs. Schramm is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Ehchholtz of Pittsburgh Circle.

New Castle Women Get Thanks From British Tommy In Middle East

A Scottish guardsman with the British forces in the Middle East received a box of British War Relief clothing and supplies in November and discovered, inside a sock, the name of Mrs. Bert McKibben of 1013 Maryland avenue, New Castle.

On Tuesday, Mrs. McKibben received a letter of thanks from him which would warm the heart of any woman who is knitting or has knit socks and sweaters for any such organization, and wondered who would wear the socks or if they would be appreciated.

"This letter will come as quite a surprise to you, no doubt. First of all I should like to thank you and the hundreds of other women who have devoted their spare time and energy to the British War Relief. I don't suppose that many soldiers write and thank you for your trouble, but it's not because they don't want to, it's usually because they have very little time or material to write, also they think it's being sentimental and a British soldier likes to think he is a hard, tough person, while actually he's the exact opposite.

"So I should like you to take this letter as a thanks from every British tommy in the Middle East and if you do, then this letter will have served its purpose.

"In the desert in winter, it is extremely cold and to some of us who have been out here for four or five years it is terrific. Though it never drops below zero, there is a cold wind that chills even the camels.

"Cigarets are a godsend. If you could see a dirty desert soldier receiving a couple of packages of cigarets and gazing on them as if they were winning tickets in the Irish Swepstakes, I am sure you would be doubly repaid for your effort.

"Before I close I should like to wish you and all the ladies of the British War Relief in your town a rather late 'Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.' Now that Jerry is taking a few knocks on the chin and things in general are looking up, maybe it won't be long until it's all over and Scotland will be a possibility instead of a dream.

"Now that your own boys are doing their stuff I suppose you will all be working for them, but for what you have done for use, well! we can only thank you." Signed, Guardsman David Taylor.

And Mrs. McKibben's boys are "doing their stuff," too, for Wilbur is with the U. S. Forces in the Middle East, and Bob is stationed in Florida.

Finds Horned Owl At Gaston Park

While at Gaston Park Wednesday morning about 7:30, Owen Fox finaly located a great horned owl. The bird had been calling for several mornings, and Mr. Fox had tried to locate it, but owing to its seeming "ventriloquist" call, he would be thrown off the track. The call seemed to come from a location, but the bird could not be seen in that direction.

When found, the hawklike bird was sitting close to a tree-trunk, on the watch for some prey. Immediately upon the bird finding it was discovered by Owen, it became silent, and soon winged its way across the park.

This bird is a night hunter, and is very destructive to wildlife, birds and small animals.

Strange enough, states Mr. Fox, the favorite prey of the horned owl is the wild turkey, and as the latter is very alert, the owl has to pit its wits against it.

In many cases, when the horned owl attacks the wild turkey, the later spreads its large tail on its back, and when its enemy strikes these flattened feathers, it finds no soft place for its talons to grasp, and the owl slides over the turkey's body, as if it had struck a greased board, to land far beyond the turkey, in a heap, a very disappointed would-be killer. Before the owl can gather itself together, its intended prey has flown away to safety.

When you read how well soldiers are fed, it means in training camp. There are no cooks where the bullets whine.

OCD NOTES

BULLETIN NOT YET HERE

Frank Sargent, chief air raid warden for the city, today issued a statement as follows: "Newspaper reports coming from Dr. Marts' state head of the O.C.D. regarding the unloading of buses and cars, so far as the local O.C.D. is concerned, is unofficial. The local council has not yet had an official bulletin covering this regulation so, the only thing we can do is to conduct our drills in the same way as we have in the past pending the receipt of an official bulletin." It might be explained that City Director D. O. Davies has written Dr. Marts objecting to the release at Harrisburg of bulletins prior to their receipt by O.C.D. officials throughout the state.
